Sam Doyle's Aide Cleared by Jury

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—The Orange County grand jury today cleared Mrs. Rose Ellen Hughes, 37, of charges she misappropriated nearly $18,000 in funds belonging to a labor union local.

The grand jury reported "no bill" of indictment against Mrs. Hughes, who lives on the Angola Road near here. She had been charged with first degree grand larceny on the basis of a complaint by Samuel J. Doyle, business agent of Local 417 of the International Assn. of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers.

Mrs. Hughes had been Doyle's secretary for about seven years.

Istanbul Incidents Continue

Menderes Warns Student Rioters

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Thousands of youths clashed with Turkish troops in Istanbul today as foreign ministers of the Atlantic Alliance assembled for a last look at the West's strategy for the summit conference.

Shouting "Freedom! Freedom!" the crowd strained against a line of soldiers guarding the broad plaza within sight of the Istanbul City Hall, where members of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers were gathering for their meeting.

No Shooting

The soldiers pushed the demonstrators back with the butts of their rifles. Suddenly the crowd broke and scattered into several small side streets. Officials and newsmen on hand for the NATO session watched the clash from the windows of the City hall.

There was no shooting, although Premier Adnan Menderes had warned Sunday that more anti-government demonstrations would not be tolerated, and a government announcement said the army had been ordered to fire on demonstrators if necessary to disperse them.

Neither Menderes nor President Celal Bayar were on hand at the opening NATO session to welcome the ministers, presumably because they were busy with the local crisis.

Already under martial law after student demonstrations against Menderes last week, Istanbul was a virtual ghost town Sunday with imposition of a 24-hour May Day curfew. Only NATO conferees and newsmen were free to move about with special passes.

Menderes accused the opposition Republican People's party of adopting a "policy of rebellion"

U. S. Judge Had Planned 30-Minute Stay

Chessman Dies, Fought 12 Years to Escape Gas

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman went to his death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber today with a smile on his lips.

The condemned sex terrorist who had staved off execution for 12 years died a few moments before a federal judge was preparing to give a 30-minute stay to hear a final appeal from his attorney, and just after the United States and California Supreme courts had rejected appeals.

Dead in 9 Minutes

The potassium cyanide pellets dropped into the acid in the apple-green death chamber at 10:03:45 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time — 12:03:45 EST—and Chessman was pronounced dead at 10:12.

Just as the fatal fumes rose, the 38-year-old Chessman managed a laugh, almost a chuckle.

No one could hear him through the soundproof walls of the hermetically sealed chamber, but he spent his final moments mouthing words directed toward Mrs. Eleanor Black, Los Angeles reporter, who had interviewed him many times.

CARYL CHESSMAN

Chessman, condemned on two counts of kidnaping with bodily harm in Los Angeles lovers' lanes in 1948, took a deep breath as the fumes rose.

Then his head went half-way back and stayed tilted back for several seconds, with the mouth wide open.

His black hair was neatly combed and he wore a white shirt, open at the throat. Drops of saliva trickled from his open mouth.

At 10:09 a.m., a little over 5 minutes after the pellets had dropped, his shoulders quivered slightly.

60 Witnesses

He had entered the chamber at 10:04 a.m., preceded by one guard and followed by three others.

The 60 witnesses jammed in front of the thick windows of the death chamber were silent. Hardly a breath stirred.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff announced the official time of death.

Washburn Property Is Purchased

To Tell Working Force Size Later

The purchase of 135 acres of Saugerties area land and the recent formation of the million-dollar Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp. was announced today by George R. Krom of Newburgh, one of the principals in the new corporation.

The firm will produce a lightweight aggregate to be used in the manufacture of masonry units and structural concrete. Production facilities will be located on 135-acre site purchased from Washburn Brick Co. of Glasco.

The Washburn property has been unused for several years since it ceased to be operated for brickyard purposes.

Rea Handled Deal

Option on the property was acquired for the owners by G. Thomas Rea Jr., Saugerties attorney. Rea has long been interested in the industrial development of the Saugerties area and thus selected to represent the corporation.

Information as to the size of the plant and number of employes to be hired was not immediately available. Permanent officers and directors will be elected at an early stockholders and officer's meeting, Krom said.

One of the principals in the new firm is the Solite Corp., of Richmond, Va., which has been producing a lightweight aggregate of this type since 1947.

John W. Roberts is president of this corporation.

Used in Eastern Sector

Through wholly owned subsidiaries the Solite Corp., now operates plants in Virginia, North Carolina and Florida Their product, Solite lightweight aggregate, is in wide use along the eastern seaboard. It has been utilized in such outstanding projects as the Chesapeake Bay Bridge, Capitol roof in Washington, D. C., and in thousands of other business and industrial projects as well as in schools, hospitals, churches and residences.

The name, Solite, is a registered trade mark for this product. The trade mark to be used by Hudson Valley will be decided on by the directors, Krom said.

Purchase of the properties involved is the culmination of months of exploration to find a deposit suitable for the production of the quality lightweight aggregate in the New York area.

33 Sites Inspected

Thirty-three separate sites in the Hudson River Valley were investigated and that chosen was the only one which would satisfy the exacting standards

Instructions Given for School Vote

Final instructions issued today for Tuesday's election to choose two education board members emphasized that a check mark (V form) as well as an "X" may be used in voting for two of four candidates on the ballot.

The four, in the order of their listing on the ballot, are: Eugene DeDea, David Kline, William F. Paulus and Arthur Withall.

Polling places will be those previously used in the various schools throughout the consolidated district, and as listed in advertisements in the press. Polls will be oven from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Dr. Earl F. Soper, school superintendent, as clerk of the education board, listed six main points of instruction:

1. Mark only with a pen having blue or black ink, or with a pencil having black lead.

2. To vote for any candidate whose name is printed on the ballot make the cross or check mark in the square at the left of the candidate.

3. Two vote for any eligible person(s) whose name(s) is not printed on this ballot write the name(s) of such person(s) in the blank space(s) provided for that purpose.

Reds Display Muscles, Blast U. S. on May Day

The United States was blasted in both hemispheres as millions of workers celebrated and Communists paraded their armed might on May Day.

Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro proclaimed "our country or death" in an angry 3½ hour harangue to between 250,000 and 500,000 shouting Cubans who turned a May Day rally into an anti-United States demonstration. The crowd was far below the 1½ million the Castro regime had hoped to bring out.

Tokyo Incidents

Tokyo demonstrators hanged President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi in effigy and blanketed the capital with placards denouncing ratification of the new U.S. Japan security treaty.

On both sides of the Iron Curtain, parades, rallies and speeches marked the worker's holiday established 61 years ago by the international Socialist Congress. The United States celebrates on the first Monday in September.

Marching troops, guns and rockets were the center attraction in Moscow, where Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders reviewed the mammoth parade. Thousands of Muscovites applauded the display, but it contained none of the terrifying new weapons Khrushchev talked about in a speech to the Supreme Soviet last January.

Communist East Germany's 110,000-man army marched through East Berlin in a parade branded by the Western Big three as "a threat to public order." Communist chief Walter Ulbricht and other East German leaders looked on in front of a huge sign proclaiming "West Berlin will be a free demilitarized city."

Gains Noted for Stockholders

Area Span, Road Funds Cited By Acker in Regional Growth

The construction of a Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and the Poughkeepsie arterial highway, for which funds were recently appropriated by the State Legislature, were characterized as "highly important factors in the continued economic growth of the Mid-Hudson region" by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation President Ernest R. Acker in the company's quarterly report to common stockholders, today.

Acker reported that the company's net income was $1,777,974 for the first quarter of 1960 and $5,502,442 for the 12 months ended March 31, 1960 as compared to last year's corresponding figures of $1,702,756 and $5,010,846.

He attributed the increases principally to a steady growth in its revenues and to operating economies resulting from the completion last fall of a 140,000-kilowatt addition to Danskammer Point Steam Station at a cost of about $26,500,000. This additional power enabled the utility to reduce its expenditure for purchased electricity by 92 per cent for the first three

The address at a dinner sponsored by the Committee for International Economic Growth and the Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom will be broadcast on radio and television.

Woman Held For Jury in Dutchess Job

Charged with robbing a Poughkeepsie bank teller of $3,000 last Wednesday afternoon, Mary Stephanie Tesch, 49-year-old divorcee, of Binghamton and Washington, D. C., today waived preliminary hearing before City Judge Charles O'Donnell.

The case was referred to the Dutchess County grand jury and the defendant was remanded to the county jail without bail. She is charged with second degree robbery.

According to authorities, Mrs. Tesch, who said she is a waitress or a factory worker, entered the Merchants and Manufacturers National Bank on Market Street, Poughkeepsie, and handed a note to Mrs. Marion Brouthers, of Wappingers Falls, a teller.

Police Chief John L. Martin said the note had the explicit message:

"Hurry — do not talk — take money—stick in bag or I'll drop this bomb."

Police said Mrs. Brouthers handed the woman three bundles of $20 bills totaling $3,000, and the accused robber hurried from the bank.

5 Persons Hurt, Two Are Charged In 3-Car Crash

Five persons were injured and two young Poughkeepsie residents were summoned on motor vehicle violations as the result of a three-car collision which occurred at 7 p. m. Sunday on Route 44-55 about a mile west of Highland.

State Trooper Edward Whalen said the cars were operated by Miss Rena Dorothy Rose, 16, of 47 Talmadge Street, Poughkeepsie; Amodio Coppola, 34, of Highland, and Orlando Andreini, 43, of Chapel Hill Road, Highland.

Amodio Coppola Jr., 6½, son of the third operator, suffered a fracture of the left shoulder and other injuries. His mother, Mrs. Marion Cappola, 34, suffered a fractured skull and a fractured jaw; Jay Coppola, 3, suffered contusions of the head.

Mary Anne Roglieri, about 16, of 179 Mansion Street, a passenger in the car driven by Miss Rose and owned by Catherine Welch, of 102 Garden Street, Poughkeepsie, was admitted to St. Francis' Hospital. Her injuries were not immediately determined, according to State police. Miss Rose was admitted

NATO Ministers Favor Arms Plan for Summit

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, meeting within the confines of a city under martial law, today endorsed Western proposals on disarmament to be put to the Soviet Union at the summit.

As the ministers convened, thousands of Turks, most of them university students, clashed with soldiers within sight of the conference building, Istanbul's modernistic City Hall, in a new demonstration against Premier Adnan Menderes' government.

Minor Casualties

There were apparently only minor casualties. Soldiers used rifle butts to herd the students back and some bared bayonets. The demonstrators were scattered into side streets.

U.S. Secretary of Stete Christian A. Herter read to the conference a special message from President Eisenhower warning that the Western Big Three meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, opening in Paris May 16, probably will not produce any quick or spectacular results.

Eisenhower cautioned against hoping for too much. He said the Paris meeting is only one more "in what may prove a long succession of diplomatic exchanges dealing with some of the most difficult problems of our era."

No Early Solution

The United States is going to the Paris talks "with a sincere desire to do all possible to reduce the tensions and dangers that now exist," he said. But he added that the world's problems "are not susceptible to early solution."

The ministers readily approved the Western position on disarmament as outlined by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on behalf of the five Western nations represented in the deadlocked Geneva East - West disarmament conference.

These five nations—the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada—have been meeting for weeks with five Soviet bloc countries in a futile effort to reach some basis for an agreement on mutual disarmament. These talks are now recessed until June.

West Not Fully Agreed

The Westerners are not completely agreed among themselves.

Rocky's Veto Rate One of Lowest Ever

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's 21½ per cent veto figure for the 1,389 bills sent him by the 1960 Legislature is one of the lowest in recent state history.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's low mark during his 12-year term was 22.2 per cent in 1954. Dewey ranged to a high of 33.6 per cent in 1951.

Rockefeller and Dewey are Republicans and their party has controlled the Legislature during the service of both as governor.

300 Were Vetoed

Rockefeller's vetoes dropped this year from 27 per cent last year. He offered no explanation for the decrease. He signed 1,089 bills this year, vetoed 300.

The governor completed action by Saturday midnight on all of the legislation left with him by the Legislature when it adjourned March 31.

He approved legislation mandating tax-paid transportation up to 10 miles for pupils in both public and non-public schools.

The governor said he did so,

KALISH IS VFW CITIZEN OF YEAR — The 10th annual Citizenship Award for service given to and interest in the community and its residents, especially youth, was given to Richard M. Kalish of 73 Highland Avenue Saturday night at a dinner sponsored in the Governor Clinton Hotel by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Citizen of Year Is Strong for College

More than 225 men and women were present Saturday night to see Richard M. Kalish, local business man, and civic worker receive the 10th annual Citizenship Award from Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The dinner in his honor was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where Attorney Hubert A. Richter, a past commander of the post, main speaker and others lauded the guest of honor for his untiring efforts as leader of various community projects.

Mr. Kalish used the occasion to make a strong plea for establishment of a Community College in the area to accommodate youths interested in continuing their educations, but who find the financial strain difficult.

The VFW award is a national project. Past commanders of posts throughout the country select a citizen in their sectors to honor each year.

In accepting the local award, Mr. Kalish said he considered it a distinct honor, and added, "I would be remiss if I didn't share this award with the many people who helped focus the attention of the VFW on me."

"My family has been an inspiration to me," he said, "and, as I look over the group here, a see many friends who have cooperated with me to help share and assume some of the respon-

Yerry Challenges DeDea Candidacy

The right of Eugene DeDea to offer as a candidate for the board of education was challenged today by Labor's Committee on Education which pointed out that the Forst Packing Company for which he works does thousands of dollars worth of business with the Kingston School District (Consolidated).

In an open letter to DeDea, 110 Madison Avenue, Chairman George E. Yerry Jr., of the labor committee charges that his candidacy involves a "conflict of interest."

Text of letter:

"There has arisen both a legal and ethical question in connection with your candidacy for the Kingston Board of Education. We believe that the public has the right to consider these questions since they will be called on to decide who shall serve on the board.

"According to a recent article in The Freeman you were mentioned as a 'special sales manager at Forst Packing Company.' Since this company does a considerable business with the Kingston schools—almost $1,000 worth in the past two months, for example — there is a question whether you can serve on the board and still maintain your position with the Forst Company.

"We call your attention to a decision of the State Commissioner of Education, Becker 6432, dealing with conflict of interest. In this case the wife of a board member was in business selling insurance, one of her clients being a local school board member. The commissioner ruled that there was a conflict of interest and said, in part, 'No board member shall have direct or indirect interest in a contract given by the board while he is a member.' Your direct connection in a sales capacity with a firm which does business with the Kingston Board of Education certainly raises a legal question on your capacity to serve.

"Beyond this, however, is the fact that you have been zealous in your search for conflict of interest by present board members. In the light of this, can you, in all conscience continue as a candidate for this position? You have used the strictest personal interpretation of the law to suggest such conflict in the past; we believe you can do no less than apply the same rigid standards to yourself as a candidate now."

Electrol Names Milner President

E. EARL MILNER

E. Earl Milner Jr., who came to Kingston recently from Muncie, Ind., was named president of Electrol Incorporated, 85 Grand Street, it has been announced by Charles W. Bishop, chairman of the board.

Milner has for the past month been working with acting president, A. E. Hess, who now has turned over the management of the firm to the new president and board member.

Milner is a graduate of Purdue University, and comes from Serrick Corp., Muncie, Ind., where he was executive vice president and general manager of Muncie Gear Work and was also at one time affiliated with Pierce Governor Co., Anderson, Ind., in a similar capacity.

In a statement today, Milner said, "I am looking forward to moving my wife and four daughters to this area at an early date. I am gratifid to have an opportunity to take a part in the Electrol activity."

Million-Dollar

required by the Solite officials Krom said.

The lightweight aggregate to be produced by the firm Krom advised, will have the same structural advantages as that produced by the Solite Corp. of Richmond, Va. It will be light in weight, extremely easy to handle, and equal in strength to natural, heavyweight aggregates.

Due to a controlled production process it will offer such inherant advantages as fire resistance, chemical inertness, and self-insulation, he said.

Multi-story buildings bridges and other structural units in New York are counted on to provide a wide market for the Saugerties plant.

At present, there is no large source of lightweight aggregate serving the area other than those shipping to the New York Metropolitan area from great distances.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has confirmed these postmaster nominations by President Eisenhower for New York State:

Joseph N. Vogel, Wallkill, and Albert B. Hibbert, Winthrop.

Foster Candidacy Hits Roadblock

Republican Sydney Foster of Liberty, Sullivan County, has reportedly run into a roadblock in his candidacy for election to the State Court of Appeals, as political jockeying continues behind the scenes.

Judge Foster was appointed last December by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to fill a vacancy on the Court of Appeals. He must run for election in November.

It is reported that the state Democratic organization is balking at bi-partisan endorsement of Foster. A front-running candidate for the Democratic nomination is reported to be Appellate Division Justice Henry Ughetta of Brooklyn.

Foster is a member of the Supreme Court bench and can return to that position if he should lose in his bid for the Court of Appeals.

Citizen of Year

sibilities that must confront the citizens of our area."

"There are many special services that one can perform. It may me in the field of religion, education, service club work, volunteers in hospitals, youth work, community chest, charities and the rest.

"How can we have a democracy without the opportunity of service to our fellow men?"

He praised Joyce-Schirick Post for its varied program covering several fields, especially youth projects such as Scouting.

"Good education of our youngsters is a must," he said. "We have an excellent education system in our consolidated area. After a youngster spends 12 years going through our grade school level, junior high and high school he should be ready for college."

Mr. Kalish mentioned the upward spiral of education costs and the financial strain for a family to send three or four children to college.

Cost Would Be Nominal

He noted that the Ulster County Board of Supervisors went on record for establishment of a Community College, and urged that the project be completed. Because of the broad tax base, he said, that if the cost were spread out over the county, it would be nominal.

"It is interesting to note that before this new semester there were 119 youngsters of our county going to community colleges at a cost of over $30,000 a year to the county," Mr. Kalish said.

He urged that the supervisors buy or accept as a donation a building or a piece of land that will be adequate for the needs of a community college.

The cost would be split three ways, he pointed out, one third from the state, a third from the county, and a third coming from tuition.

Glad to Serve

Concerning the VFW award, Mr. Kalish said "No one really lives unless he fully serves and if you have seen fit to give me this award because I have rendered special service, my real reward is that I am serving my community and my country."

Quoting from Testament he said, "How can a man love God, whom he cannot see, if he doesn't love man, who he can see?"

Attorney Richter paid tribute to the guest of honor for his various civic interests reciting his work for the Kingston Hospital, boy scouting, other youth projects, service club affiliation, especially the Lions, also Temple Emanuel and in aiding promotion of charitable enterprises.

The Citizenship Award was presented by William Watts, commander of Joyce-Schirick Post. District Attorney Raymond J. Mino was toastmaster. Others taking part in the program were Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Mrs. Robert Davis of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary, Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, DD, of Temple Emanuel and the Rev. James Blane, pastor of Flatbush Reformed Church, and chaplain of Joyce-Schirick Post.

Ninth Death Date Final One for Caryl

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman's nine dates with death:

1. March 28, 1952, stayed Feb. 29.
2. June 27, 1952, stayed June 23.
3. May 14, 1954, stayed May 13, 16 hours before execution.
4. July 30, 1954, stayed July 29.
5. Jan. 14, 1955, stayed Jan. 11.
6. July 15, 1955, stayed July 6.
7. Oct. 23, 1959, stayed Oct. 21.
8. Feb. 19, 1960, sixty-day reprieve by governor 10 hours before execution.
9. May 2, 1960.

Chessman Dies

Warden Fred R. Dickson stands a little distance from the chamber was partly open. Usually it is shut during an execution.

Three Quick Denials

Chessman's 12-year court fight to escape the gas chamber ended with a series of three denials—all within 45 minutes of the execution hour—and an intended 30-minute stay of execution that came too late.

The California Supreme Court denied a series of petitions filed Saturday and Sunday after an unprecedented special session in chambers in San Francisco this morning. They met again to deny a new petition for a stay filed 45 minutes before the death hour. Denial was at 9:50.

In Washington, Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court refused to grant a stay only minutes before the death hour.

Deadly Pellets Dropped

But U.S. Dist. Judge Louis E. Goodman said he tried to grant a 30-minute stay, but the deadly pellets already had been dropped. The petition was filed with Goodman at 9:55 a.m. He said he would have granted the delay to hear arguments on the petition.

Word that the pellets had dropped was flashed first from the office of Gov. Edmumd G. Brown in Sacramento.

Thus ended the life of a small-time hoodlum, car thief and robber whose long struggle to escape the penalty made him a famous prisoner.

20 Years in Prison

First arrested at the age of 16, he died at 38, having spent more than 20 years in prisons.

Chessman died under a double conviction of kidnaping for robbery with bodily harm, the official legal description of perverted sex attacks on two women in Los Angeles lovers' lanes in January 1948. He denied the crimes.

Nine times his death date was set; eight times he thwarted it.

Seven times the courts granted stays to permit new appeals. The eighth time Gov. Edmund G. Brown issued a reprieve to avoid hostile demonstrations against President Eisenhower in Latin America and to push an abortive effort to abolish capital punishment in California.

Brilliant Appeals

The persistence and brilliancy of the campaign of appeals which Chessman conducted from his cell in death row made his name a household word around the world.

In prison he wrote four books. One of them, "Cell 2455, Death Row," became a best-seller in many languages. The royalties financed his appeals.

Step by step, through state and federal courts, his chief argument was that his trial transcript was incorrect because a dead reporter's notes were transcribed by another man.

The point fascinated a succession of judges, from the lower benches to the U.S. Supreme Court, which entertained 16 of his appeals.

In the end, he had succeeded in shifting public attention away from his crimes to his own personality and the larger issue of capital punishment.

The 61-year-old premier told the nation in a radio broadcast Sunday night: "Their chances of winning a new election are nil so they embarked on a nefarious policy of inciting some 3,000 to 4,000 students, taken to the streets at a time when a major international conference was about to take place in Istanbul."

Spokesmen for the Republicans, outnumbered more than 3 to 1 in Parliament, denied instigating the demonstrations.

The party, led by former President Ismet Inonu, has been beaten in three national elections since 1950 by Menderes' Democratic party.

Calm was reported throughout the country after last week's demonstrations and riots in Istanbul, Ankara and the NATO port of Izmir.

The military commander of Istanbul announced he had given orders to all units under his command "to resist most severely against the smallest gatherings and to use arms when necessary."

Battle for Life Starts Today for Slayer of Seven

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Dennis Whitney, 17-year-old Californian whose frontier-pistol snuffed out seven lives in a casual coast-to-coast robbery spree, began a court battle today to save himself from death in Florida's electric chair.

The red-haired youth went on trial on a first-degree murder charge in the killing of Virginia Selby, 62, a Hialeah, Fla., grandmother whose body was found March 4 in bushes near Jupiter, 80 miles north of Miami.

Whitney confessed he shot Mrs. Selby with a long-barreled .22 caliber pistol when she hit him in the face with a hammer after he had commandeered her car in Miami. He admitted he also killed three men in Arizona, two in Florida and one in California.

The hope of an insanity plea for Whitney was squashed Sunday night by a psychiatrist's report that the sullen teen-ager was sane when he killed Mrs. Selby, and is sane now.

State atty. Phil O'Connell will demand the death penalty. Charles A. Nugent, court-appointed defender of Whitney, said he hoped to prove that the slaying of Mrs. Selby was a case of second or third-degree murder.

If Whitney gets any sentence but death, Dade County Miami authorities want to try him for the killing of two service station attendants.

Game Protector Slain in Apparent Love Triangle

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—A 42-year-old plumber is charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a state game-protector, apparently the result of a love triangle.

Lee Johnson, 29, of Lockport, was killed Sunday when he was shot in the right side and in the head on a lonely road on the east side of the city.

Henry E. Domedion of Pendleton was charged with first-degree murder. He waived examination Sunday night at an arraignment and was ordered held without bail in Niagara County Jail to await grand jury action.

Police said Domedion told them he had met Johnson to discuss a divorce Domedion's wife was planning. He said a "full-blown romance" had developed between his wife and Johnson since the two met 18 months ago when the game protector answered a call at the Domedion home.

Domedion said an argument started while he and Johnson were talking in the latter's car. He went to his own car, parked 15 feet behind Johnson's, and got a pistol, he said.

Domedion said that he "just planned to scare him" but that the gun fired accidentally while he was loading it. He panicked when he saw Johnson fall, he said, and fired a second shot.

Police said four or five shots had been fired. Three of them struck the rear of the Johnson car, they said.

Johnson had been employed by the State Conservation Department since 1957. He had been assigned to the eastern sector of Niagara County.

Attorneys of the U. S. Department of Justice defend the government in a suit brought against it.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON

AWESOME

The President says our military striking power is "awesome." Others think it has serious weaknesses. Most of us don't know whom or what to believe.

The fact that the Reds are admittedly ahead with the intercontinental ballistic missile is not the only reason why critics are not satisfied.

E. F. Hutton

In this and my next column, I will summarize the Administration's case and then state major flaws seen in it.

Our Strategic Air Command's manned bombers are far superior to any similar weapon which the Reds possess. We encircle the Soviets with 250 overseas bases from which we could launch a devastating attack.

We have about 2,000 manned bombers, each of which carries nuclear power equal to, or greater than, an intercontinental missile. In addition, a manned bomber has the choice of attacking several targets, which the I.C.B.M. does not possess.

Then we have intermediate range missiles based in England, each of which has a greater nuclear punch than the bombs that wiped out Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

We have superiority in aircraft carriers, 14 in number, which are hard targets to hit when on the prowl. These can deliver bombs to almost any point in the world.

We are ahead of the Reds with our Polaris atom-powered submarines, which can stay out of sight for months. They can shoot their bombs while submerged.

Overall, the President says we are far stronger than Russia. What's the answer to this?

Toll Now Five In L. I. Blaze

BAY SHORE, N. Y. (AP)—The death toll from a fire that swept the home of an attorney in this south shore Long Island community rose to five today.

A mother, two of her seven children and a house guest were killed when flames wrecked the home of attorney Emmett McNamara in the pre-dawn Sunday.

The latest victim was a third child, Vincent, who died in a hospital of burns.

McNamara, a prominent lawyer and former FBI agent, was away on a religious retreat.

In addition to Vincent, those dead were McNamara's wife, Mary, 47; sons Emmett Jr., 18, and Richard, 15; and Miss Clyde Fitzgerald, 19, of Keyport, N. J.

A daughter, Mary Ann, 20, roused by her mother's cries, escaped safely with her 5-year-old twin sisters, Katherine and Patricia.

Another son, Paul, 11, and house guest Thomas Connors, 20, of East Orange, N. J., were rescued. Paul was in critical condition from burns. Connors was slightly hurt.

The family and guests had stayed up late, retiring only about an hour before a patrolman saw flames in the three-story frame house.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

ELECTRIC POWER EXPANSION

The continued growth in electric utility industry generating capability as shown in the most recent report of Edison Electric Institute is proof that America's electric power systems are doing an excellent job according to Ernest A. Acker, president of Central Hudson and a director of the Institute.

The survey shows that power supply not only is expanding in step with demand, but also is reinforced by a reserve margin of more than 27 per cent as estimated for next December.

The new survey indicates that electric energy output in 1960 will reach 770 billion kilowatt-hours, an 8.8 per cent increase over the production figure recorded by the industry for 1959.

Longer-range forecasts bring a startling new figure into the power production picture with nationwide output estimated at about one trillion kilowatt-hours for 1963.

It would seem from these figures that the United States power industry has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that it will provide all the power we can use, along with a large reserve capacity capable of dealing with any emergency need. These days we hear a lot about Russia's industrialization plans and electric power development but the Soviet Union's chances of overtaking us in the field of electric power seems very slight.

Pointing to the electric capacity in our area, President Acker declares that expansion of electric power supply in the Mid-Hudson Valley is typified by the recent addition of a 140,000 kilowatt-third generating unit at Central Hudson's Danskammer Point Steam Station. The $26,500,000 addition doubles both the capability of the station and the utility's investment in the plant and along with other generating facilities, puts Central Hudson in a position to take care of the estimated power requirements of its industrial, commercial and residential customers through 1962.

THE LESSER EVIL

Reports from the census takers indicate they weren't wrong in anticipating trouble over trying to learn the ages of women. Lots of them balk.

Some of the head-counters get around it with a trick. They say, "All right, I'll just estimate," and mention a figure about 10 years too old. That does it. The correct age comes out hastily.

Ah, the complexities of governing.

CURIOSITY OF TOTS

The curiosity of tots and cats is too well known to require much argument. Cats, aided by their exceptional talent for getting out of scrapes, will have to fend pretty much for themselves. But tots don't have nine lives—and sometimes the one life they have is sacrificed to curiosity because of adult carelessness.

This generality has special import with regard to useful but poisonous substances—various common medicines, paint thinner, cleaning fluid and the like—which are found in every household. When the curiosity of young children is focused on such things, tragedy often results.

Eliminating curiosity is neither possible nor desirable. It is possible, however, to reduce the chances of accident by putting harmful substances out of children's reach—and by keeping a close watch on the youngsters.

This was borne out in a recent study made by Drs. Gordon D. Jensen and Wesley W. Wilson of the University of Washington School of Medicine. Their report in the journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics concludes that almost all of 100 cases of child poisoning they studied could have been prevented if parents had exercised greater care.

The point need not be labored. Many common substances become potentially fatal poisons when they are swallowed indiscriminately by small children. Vigilance, here as in other areas, pays off handsomely.

THE CUBAN REVOLUTION

Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" is an expert on Spain and Latin America and like most experts in all fields, he has fallen in love with the little microbes he sees through his glasses. His defense of Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba as a "social revolution" becomes meaningless in the face of the record as it unfolds. The denial of Communist implications does not hold up from any study of the facts.

Revolutions are made by men with ideas and purposes. Revolutions are never mass explosions. They are the product of careful planning, of the preparation of slogans and paraphernalia, of the readiness of the leaders to man their posts with immediacy. The Russian Revolution of 1917 was in the making for half a century and the Bolsheviks organized for it in 1903.

All modern revolutions have been social revolutions; Matthews's redundancy establishes no additional information. What is meant by the phrase "social revolution?" It means the dispossession of the possessing classes and the redistribution of both wealth and power to other classes.

A Communist revolution, whether in the stage of a people's republic which Cuba is now, or in the stage of a Socialist state which Russia is now, or in the attempt to establish a Communist state which Red China is now, is always a dictatorship, for its essential characteristic is the dictatorship of the proletariat and thus whoever controls the proletariat is the master of the state.

Among the social revolutions which have failed are those of Hitler, Mussolini and Peron. The only proved successful social revolutions have been those of Lenin in Soviet Russia and Tito in Yugoslavia. Without a revolution, Franklin D. Roosevelt effected vast social changes in the United States.

To repeat, revolutions are made by men and Fidel Castro collected a group of men from many countries, most of whom are either Communists or fellow travellers. The leading men are his brother, Raul Castro, Chief of the Army, Dr. Che Guevara, head of the National Bank, Antonio Nunez Jimenez, head of INRA (National Institute of Agrarian Reform), Dr. Waldo Medina, head of the Legal Department of INRA who can change the constitution, Pino Santos, head of the Commercial Division of INRA, Santos Rios, General assistant to Fidel Castro. Associated with them are Czechoslovakians, Italians, Germans, Japanese, Guatemalans, Argentinians and others, who are one shade or another Left Wingers.

Cuba is practically without political parties except the Socialist Party which is Communistic. Fidel Castro does not belong to a political party but is representative of a people's movement. However, the cooperation of the Socialist Party is accepted. Communism is regarded not as political but as ideological. The official paper of the government, "Revolucion," is edited by Carlos Franqui who is a Communist.

The first characteristic of a Communist revolution is the sequestration of land without compensation. It is a fundamental of the Marxian doctrine that the land belongs to all the people and its produce to those who work it with their sweat and blood. To compensate landlords is to give profits to the capitalist class, thus acknowledging that they have some rights. Before Mikoyan came to Cuba, there was some discussion of giving the landlords a kind of bonds for their lands, houses and cattle. Now they get nothing, after the Russian Marxian pattern. The next step will undoubtedly be the establishment of state-owned industries by seizing all the sugar mills which will be nationalized. The mark of a Socialist Revolution anywhere, by definition, is the seizure by the government of the means of production, distribution and exchange. The next stage is the abolition of the family, of religion, of nationality and the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

Every person in Cuba will sooner or later be working for the government and will be policed by Castro's militia. The development of such a militia (Trotzky's Red Army) can, in short order, hold any unarmed people in absolute thrall. Every revolution employs such a militia not to achieve social change but to keep in power those who have seized power. An example of such a militia was Hitler's Storm Troopers.

The apologists for Castro deal with his sweet and gentle personality. No one could have been more gentle than Lenin. I saw him often. He could not hurt a fly! What does that prove? In the name of revolution, he had many killed. Sun Yat-sen was almost feminine in his sweetness, but sent many revolutionists into war and death.

Tongue Still Gives Hints Of Disturbances in Body

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When we were kids, the medical examination began (and too often ended) with a display of the tongue. If you complained of not feeling well or if you didn't look well, you'd be ordered to stick out your tongue.

Whether the examiner was your mother or the family doctor, you'd get "a cleaning out" with castoroil or salts or calomel and salts or sulfur and molasses if the tongue was coated.

And if it wasn't coated but nice and pink and moist, you'd get the "cleaning out" to PREVENT coating.

Either way, there was the chance that the "cleaning out" meant a day home from school and a documented "excuse" signed by parent or physician.

Sometimes, as on the opening days of baseball, fishing or hunting seasons or on suspicion of an upcoming "written exam," the game was worth the candle. Most times, however, as parents became more and more knowing, the dodge was worse than a total loss.

Nowadays, since much of the art of medical diagnosis has been surrendered to gadgeteers and blood chemists, the tongue seems to have slipped behind a dental curtain. Few parents or even physicians bother to look at it although it seems to function quite actively especially during the weeks preceding a national election.

Here is a partial list of a few hints you might derive from a good look at the outstretched tongue:

Brown Furring. Maybe "auto-intoxication," particularly if eliminated by a good "cleaning out."

Dryness and Shrinkage. Dehydration due to insufficient fluid intake or excessive fluid loss through kidneys, intestines or sweat glands.

Beefy Redness. Vitamin B deficiency especially if associated with soreness.

Central Area of Darkness. Prolonged irritation often due to over use of mouth washes containing sodium borate.

Wandering Areas of Scaling (Geographic Tongue). If unaccompanied by soreness, probably due to irritant foods, condiments or tobacco smoke. If also painful, probably a vitamin B deficiency.

Bruises, Cuts or Scars at edges. Probably bites from epileptic convulsions.

How about taking a squint every now and then? And, if you don't like what you see or you notice the development of a sore spot that refuses to heal in a few days, better arrange to see your doctor—especially if you're a heavy smoker.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Newspaper Enterprise Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — On the eve of the May 3 primaries in Ohio (64 Dem.—46 Rep.), Indiana (34 Dem.—32 Rep.) and District of Columbia (9 Dem.—8 Rep.), this is the standing of the candidates:

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has 314 delegates to Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater's 30. Nixon has New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, North Carolina and North Dakota.

He also can claim 50 "unpledged" delegates from Illinois, 70 from Pennsylvania, and 38 from Massachusetts. State convention resolutions favoring him were passed in Kansas and Kentucky. Goldwater has 13 in South Carolina and 17 from Arizona.

The Democratic score is Kennedy 77½, Humphrey 13, Symington 4½, Stevenson 1½ and Johnson 1. Kennedy has 41 in Massachusetts, New Hampshire's 11 and 20½ from Wisconsin, plus a few scattered votes. Humphrew has 10½ in Wisconsin, plus scattered.

It will take 761 convention votes to win the Democratic nomination, 666 the Republican.

IN RESPONSE to requests for more specific information on the subject, here are the church affiliations of presidential candidates other than Sen. John F. Kennedy, whose lifelong catholicism, it is charged, has been overemphasized.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson — Brought up in the Christian Church, though his father and mother originally were Baptists.

His wife and two daugters are Episcopalian. In Washington they attend services at the National Cathedral.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey — His parents were both Congregationalists and the senator and his family are members of First Congregational Church in Minneapolis.

In Washington, however, they regularly attend services at Chevy Chase Methodist Church.

Sen. Stuart Symington—Both his parents were Episcopalians and his mother was active in organization of the Order of the Holy Cross.

Symington and his wife, the former Evelyn Wadsworth, were married in Washington's St. John's Episcopal "Church of the Presidents." Mrs. Symington long has been active in National Cathedral affairs.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon — His parents were both Quakers and he is a member of the East Whittier, Calif., Friends' Church.

He was graduated from Whittier College, a Quaker school.

In Washington, however, the Nixons and their two daughters have attended services in community churches near their home. Formerly they attended the Westmoreland Circle Congregational Church. They now attend Metropolitan Methodist.

A STRAW in the wind on Oregon's important presidential primary May 20—where all of the candidates are entered—is provided by Rep. Charles O. Porter's poll of his Fourth Congressional district, comprising seven southeastern counties. Post cards were sent to 130,000 voters, 20,000 were returned.

Democratic vote was 58.5 per cent of the total, Republican 41.5.

Nixon led the field with 33 per cent of the vote, to 16 per cent for Sen. Wayne Morse, 14 per cent for Kennedy, and 12 per cent for Stevenson, who insists he isn't a candidate.

The surprise was that New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller got 8 per cent—more than Humphrey, Johnson and Symington, who got less than 6 per cent apiece in that descending order.

NIXON ADMITTED to the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington that "a Democratic Senate will be elected" in November, in spite of anything the Republicans can do about it.

But he still held out hope that the Republicans can win control of the House of Representatives.

It's now divided 281 Democrats to 151 Republicans, with five vacancies.

The GOP will have to win 67 seats it does not now hold to get a majority of one, which would permit it to organize the House.

WOMEN ARE in politics to stay, all right. For one thing, there are more of them. This year's census is expected to show four or five million more voting age women than men.

National League of Women Voters has just held its 40th anniversary convention in St. Louis, celebrating the triumph of suffrage.

But anyone having lingering doubts about the role of women in politics would be disillusioned by what has been going on in Washington lately.

First the Republican Women's "Campaign Countdown" drew several thousand women political workers from all over the country for training program on how to win elections.

Then the (nonpolitcal) Daughters of the American Revolution came to town and passed resolutions against practically everything from the National Council of Churches to co-operating with the Russians in Antarctica.

Now it's the Democratic women bringing other thousands to Washington May 8-10 to learn the facts of political life.

National Chairman Paul Butler has been insisting there be women on all committees at all levels of the party.

In 1956 the Democrats had 286 women delegates and 381 women alternates at their Chicago convention. This year there will be more.

Fulbright Seen Taking Side Of Nasser Against Israel

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Does Chairman Fulbright, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, speak for the Democratic party when he takes the side of Dictator Nasser against the Israeli government? Sens. Kennedy, Humphrey, Symington and Johnson disagree with the Arkansas Senator in his latest pronouncement that glosses over Nasser's refusal to open the Suez Canal to all shipping.

Sen. Fulbright in his statement castigates his fellow Senators — many of them liberal Democrats, like Sen. Douglas of Illinois — because the use of American taxpayers' funds to help Nasser carry on his economic boycott against another country in the free world.

The House of Representatives has adopted a similar provision advocating the principles of free navigation. For a majority derived from both political parties sees no reason why the United States government should continue to send mutual security funds to Egypt if the latter seeks to destroy the economy of Israel, a country which also receives such funds from America.

Eisenhower Plea Ignored

Nasser has ignored the pleas of President Eisenhower to reopen the Suez Canal to the ships of all nations, though diplomatic help toward that end was promised by Mr. Eisenhower after Britain and France intervened in 1956 in the Middle East War. At least it was a factor in placating Israel, which early in 1957 withdrew its armed forces from the battle zones with that understanding.

The United Nations has tried repeatedly by its resolutions since 1948 to bring about a reconciliation between Israel and Egypt. But Nasser refuses to negotiate directly or indirectly. He says a state of war exists, and he uses that technical reason in trying to justify closing the Suez Canal to Israel's shipping.

If it be conceded that a "state of war" exists, then why did the World Bank, which is part of the United Nations organization, decide last December to make a loan of $56,000,000 to Egypt to widen and improve the Suez Canal? Cannot it be argued that the World Bank has thus taken sides in a "war" and has helped one of the so-called belligerents? Plainly Dictator Nasser cannot have it both ways.

New Angle in Boycott

Within the last few days another grave development has occurred. A maritime union in New York City decided not to help unload ships coming from Egypt. Immediately the maritime unions in Egypt and other Arab countries retaliated by refusing to unload American ships in their ports. But the real reason for the boycott imposed in this country is the union's fear of damage to the jobs of American seamen in the future, because the Cairo government persists in refusing to let ships from any country go through the canal if, at any time previously, they have carried any cargoes to Israel. This means that American companies with products destined for other countries in the world must maintain a fleet of ships solely for the Israeli trade, and cannot even separate the voyages of their own ships. Once a vessel serves Israel, it goes on the blacklist imposed by Nasser not only against Americans but against the ships of all other countries.

Within the last twenty-four hours, Nasser has issued a bitter attack on President Eisenhower blaming him for the boycott by American seamen in New York City. He holds President Eisenhower responsible for what the unions are doing, though he himself disclaims any responsibility for what the Arab unions are doing.

Should American taxpayers' funds be used to support any regime which discriminates against American seamen in this manner? Although the Senate and House recorded an emphatic "no," Sen. Fulbright now accuses his fellow members of Congress of playing politics and of being influenced by a "pressure" group. The Veterans Committee of the Jewish War Veterans called this remark "an insult to the loyalty and patriotism of the members of this group who have served this country loyally in war and peace." It added:

"It is apparently the view of Sen. Fulbright that American organizations must abdicate their right to speak out on issues affecting the foreign policies of the United States."

Sen. Keating, Republican of New York, says that the action taken by Congress means that the United States is asking Nasser to "stop using the Suez Canal as a political pawn." Sen. Fulbright, however, contends that the action taken by the House and Senate has "seriously compromised" the conduct of foreign policy by the President.

Puts Blame on Nasser

But it is the Nasser government which is trying to sabotage American foreign policy. Within the last few days the vice-foreign minister of the United Arab Republic (Egypt), on his visit to Chile, told a news conference there that the Cairo government "will resolutely help Cuba defend herself against aggression if Cuba requests it, and if it is within our possibilities." There was a time when such a pronouncement would have been regarded as a public insult to the United States because of the Monroe Doctrine, which warns nations outside this hemisphere to keep out of Latin-American affairs.

The Cairo regime has been boldly taking the Communist side in many a dispute, and yet the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee imputes improper motives to other members of Congress who resent the pro-Communist tactics of Egypt's dictator.

Urgency in Final Stages Of West Virginia Primary

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (NEA) — Crackling urgency marks the final stages of the West Virginia primary campaign.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, a highly-animated obstacle in Sen. John Kennedy's path, poses the greatest peril so far to the latter's 1960 presidential hopes.

Behind Humphrey stand bigger barriers which in the general view actually make this May 10 vote a Kennedy and anti-Kennedy fight.

Humphrey's chances for the Democratic nomination are rated slim no matter what happens here. But Kennedy is under pressure to win or come close. The penalty for failure is a shattering of his nationwide potential delegate strength, which now puts him ahead.

As the election comes closer, Kennedy moves with new vigor, stung by the sight of these huge roadblocks:

An evident hard core resistance to his Catholicism;

A near solid wall of labor leader opposition;

A loose but strong combine against him of this state's fiddle-playing Sen. Robert Byrd and two potent Kennedy competitors, Sens. Stuart Symington and Lyndon Johnson.

Experts see Kennedy climbing against the favored Minnesotan, but the game is still to be won. Said a veteran politician:

"They'll fight here to the last day. It's a carryin' vote (many voters have to be hauled to the polls), and you can work on 'em on the way."

Some think a possibly historic May 4, television debate between the two contenders may supply the decisive turn.

Humphrey now is concentrating on the populous zones south of the Kanawha River line, where may be found more than half the state's expected 400,000 Democratic votes.

Here, too, are found rural non-Catholics clustered in "cricks and hollers," and idle coal miners gazing at the aching emptiness of their once bustling towns.

Humphrey strives to shake off his "top dog" label and get back under.

"My opponent is well to do, well organized, and well supported. He's about as unbecoming, running as an underdog, as Man Mountain Dean would be acting like a pygmy."

Humphrey chops at Kennedy for his wealth, trying to draw contrast with West Virginia's sallow economy (100,000 unemployed, personal incomes 25 per cent below the U. S. average) and with his own thinning resources ("I can't even pay to drive my campaign bus down the road").

Kennedy's strength rises north of the Kanawha, in cities such as Parkersburg, Clarksburg, Wheeling, Fairmont, and Morgantown.

There he's better known, better organized. There Sen. Byrd's assaults are believed to have aided him through defection of some Byrd professionals. And there lies his best hope of winning broader backing from politicians now either keyed to Johnson or Symington or absorbed in their own local battles.

Said a Kennedy man eager to cut into the professional ranks: "We've got a fella who might go all the way. We can [illegible] up and show 'em the view from the mountain. Nobody [illegible]

Yet Kennedy isn't yielding the heavy-voting southern zones. To his aid has come Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., whose father is still an idol in nearly every unpainted hilltown shack.

"I hear young Franklin speaks tonight," an oldster observed. "I wanna hear him, on accounta what his daddy done."

Kennedy himself hacks at Johnson and Symington as "shadowy figures" who fight him "by proxy" and decline to stand before West Virginia voters as he does on street corners, courthouse steps, factory sidewalks.

He pitches into Humphrey as a helpless stand-in for his absentee rivals, and bids for fair play from West Virginians against the "gang-up." He counts on fresh psychological lift from his record Pennsylvania primary write-in.

Toughest barrier of all is the threat of religious prejudice, lurking in the shadowy valleys and here and there in the cities. Its real size and shape are unknown. Some think the hard core of a quarter of the vote.

Impartial viewers feel Kennedy makes dramatic headway with less rigid doubters when he tackles the problem in forthright declaration. Applause and shouts often burst like a blaze. They reckon such doubters a large element in what is believed a sizable undecided vote.

Humphrey deplores all signs and talks of prejudice, minimizes an anti-Kennedy "gang-up," says instead he's the victim of a "gang-up of wealth." His campaign is geared tightly to New Deal-style liberalism, to his self-image as the poor man's candidate and confederate.

West Virginians appear to be comparing the two men closely. The scrutiny will be sharp when they're seen side by side May 4 on statewide TV. That could be the moment of choice.

Home Readin' Matter

By FRANK TRIPP

If you were asked to say how much home readin' matter never gets read, what would you guess? To get a column out of it, I'm going to say 80 per cent.

I pick 80 per cent just off-hand, careless like, but I can dig up some evidence. My library isn't pretentious, still when a run-of-mine visitor views it he could be fooled that I'm a rather extensive book reader. The truth is that I haven't read two thirds of the books I own.

A smart researcher can figure one's reading habits by what is on his shelves and how the books are arranged. At my house he'd find two sets of encyclopedia; one a ponderous, unabridged set which confuses me more than it informs. A more condensed set, that gets down to cases, is right handy by.

Also within arm's reach of my loafing chair he'd find evidence that I'm nostalgic, sentimental—and try to write. He'd find a set of Mark Sullivan's "Our Times," Gilbert & Sullivan's operas, Ed Marks' "They All Sang," a Who's Who, a Who Was Who and three overworked old faithfuls, Roget's Thesaurus, the current World Almanac — and always today's newspaper.

BACK WHEN doctors came for a dollar a call, I asked a successful old practitioner what drugs he could least do without.

"Hell's bells, I could do without 80 per cent of 'em," he said. "I could probably do a better job if I just stuck to morphine and castor oil."

By like hunch and with equal inaccuracy I arrived at my 80 per cent. That many of my books that cost a lot of dough just make good scenery, impress callers and haven't been touched by anybody but the maid since I moved others to the attic to make room for them.

Near as I can learn from book owners who are honest about it, that's about the average reading that home book shelves get. But, half hidden in a corner like as not you'll find a stack of 10 to 20 dog-eared thrillers that have been read all over the neighborhood.

The chorus girl wasn't so moronic after all. Seeking a Christmas present for another chorine, a friend suggested a book. "I thought of that," she said, "but she's got a book."

THE BOOKS that have moved to the attic bring to mind a racket that kept young reporters poor 50 years ago. Every town had its resourceful book agent and reporters were their meat. Often when I needed a pair of pants much worse, I bought books on the installment plan and lived off free lunch bars. Then I seldom read the books.

We all had to own a set of Richard Harding Davis, Bulwer, Gaboriau, Sherlock Holmes and Elbert Hubbard. We bought big as an atlas volumes of Frederic Remington's westerns and Howard Chandler Christy's beautiful women with bustles, balloon sleeves, college pennants 'n' everything.

THOUGH prime suckers, we never fell for the history of the Spanish American War, the life of William McKinley and the like. These had a familiar twang. They were reprinted newspaper stories, hurriedly bound together by a foxy publisher and hawked by young men working their way through college.

Some of the young men had whiskers, crutches and grandchildren but the racket still works.

Thousands of these got added to humble family libraries, which consisted mainly of a copy of Hostetter's Almanac, hung under the clock shelf, and a Bible eight inches thick.

SUCH a Bible with "Pilgrim's Progress," Aesop's Fables, Grimm's Fairy Tales and "Little Lord Fauntleroy" were the library of the happy home where I grew up.

Thinking back to that home sort of confirms my 80 per cent. The daily paper got read at our house from cover to cover. Pop and mom were so busy earning a living and keeping house that the only consistent reading they had time to do was the Elmira Gazette, said Hostetter's Almanac and a Saturday night review of the Sunday School lesson.

Maybe things haven't changed so much; 'cause 59 million newspapers are sold in America every day.

Cerebral Palsy Fund Canvassers View New Film

Volunteer workers in the $23,000 fund-raising campaign, scheduled by United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc., recently viewed the screening of a film produced at the treatment center, 400 Broadway.

The film, made by staff, shows consulting diagnosticians examining children, and demonstrates the results of therapy after a period of time.

Drive Starts Today

The volunteer workers, many of whom will participate in the house-to-house, 53-minute march in behalf of cerebral palsy today learned from the film that the treatment center provides other services, in addition to its work with the cerebral palsied.

Therapists are shown working with severely deafened children, others with speech disorders, and those afflicted with muscular dystrophy and post-polio.

The treatment center provides psychometic testing and psychological counselling; dental care for problem cases; braces and orthopedic appliances are fitted and repaired; hearing aids are fitted; special equipment is constructed and loaned for home use.

The CP center, a community project to aid children of the area, is financed primarly by local funds. Community service organizations and residents also contribute to the operation of the center.

April donations included paint for the speech therapy room by Jack Short of the Shults Paint Co. The painting was done by George Becker of Mt. Marion. Materials for soundproofing the room were donated by the Spinnenweber Construction Company of Port Ewen.

List Contributions

Worf's Skirts of the Seventh ward contributed a book case and small chairs for the nursery room, and a $68 contribution was donated from a recent bowling match, featuring the Board of Police Commissioners, members of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, and a Colonial Tire Company mixed team. The match was arranged at Sangi's Bowlero by Jake Chichelsky.

Collins Troy of Hurley is county chairman for the May fund-raising campaign, and Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky is serving as city chairman.

The house-to-house chairmen include Mrs. W. Henry Haltermann, Wards 3, 6, 9 and 12; Mrs. Edward DeGroff, Wards 2, 5, 8 and 11; Mrs. Merrill Stone, Wards 1, 4, 7, 10 and 13.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television came up with something really new this weekend: Roy Rogers in a yachting cap and Dale Evans in a middy blouse.

But, frankly, a full hour of skin divers grappling with sharks 27 feet down in a pool and skin divers riding on the backs of turtles and whales is more fascinating entertainment for the young crowd than the adults. I doubt that denizens of the deep will ever really replace the horse.

Roy and Dale did their smiling best, including a little singing—all very nautical—to enliven this NBC Aquarodeo but this viewer soon moved to another channel.

Over on CBS there was in progress a broad and not too amusing comedy treatment of the princess and the pea story. It's not that this can't be funny—there is a Broadway hit based on the same folk tale currently doing very well. But this adaption called "The Ugly Duckling," with Joanna Barnes as the plain princess and Oscar Homolka as the worried king, was neither witty nor high spirited.

Earlier, on NBC, a musical variety show occupied the Sunday Showcase spot. Frances Langford was hostess-star and she is a singer with a nice way with a song. The special was notable for a revival of one of those old Bickerson sketches she and Don Ameche used to do on radio. Miss Langford and Ameche snarled glibly back and forth. But hurling poison tipped barbs has become such routine television that the Bickersons just sounded ill-tempered and rude.

But it was, all in all, a pretty good hour of entertainment.

Recommended tonight: Playhouse 90, CBS, 8-9:30—"The Shape of the River," based on 10 years in the life of Mark Twain, with Franchot Tone; "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," NBC, 9-11—Hall of Fame production of Shaw's play with Greer Garson and Christopher Plummer.

Faces Custody Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Beverly Aadland faces a custody hearing today that could place her in a juvenile home.

The 17-year-old actress, last love of the late Errol Flynn, has been detained by juvenile authorities since the fatal shooting of Billy Stanciu, 21, in Beverly's apartment. She claims he was shot accidentally.

Her mother, Florence Aadland, 53, has been charged with five counts of contributing to the girl's delinquency.

Five Youths Drown

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Swamping of a skiff drowned five of eight youths aboard a 12-foot craft on a pond.

Relatives on shore swam 100 yards and rescued the other three.

Student Found Hanged

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—John Hirko, 22, of Johnson City, a graduate student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, was found hanged Sunday.

His brother, Richard Hirko, 18, who found the body, told Coroner Thomas Styles that John had been despondent over low grades.

Styles did not issue a verdict.

Honored by Lawyers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The producer and the star of the Perry Mason television series were honored Sunday by the National Assn. of Women Lawyers.

Trophies were given Gail Patrick, actress turned producer, and actor Raymond Burr for their work on the courtroom drama.

Squeeze Nets Grand Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The bidding of today's hand is not given. It was played in the Open Pairs at the Nationals and everyone reached a slam in no-trump.

Some North players became declarer and fanned the hand for seven against a club opening. When South was declarer the jack of hearts was always opened, but practically all declarers were able to find the three suit squeeze for the grand slam.

They started by cashing the three top hearts and West showed up with a heart stopper. The next step was to run off four diamond tricks. On the fourth diamond they would drop a low spade from dummy.

By that time it had become apparent to these astute declarers that East held the queen of clubs. So all they had to do was to lead a club back to their own king and then cash that last diamond.

West would still have to hang on to his high heart and would be forced down to two spades. Then the last heart would be thrown from dummy and the jack of clubs would put the pressure on East.

In turn he would have to go down to two spades in order to keep that queen of clubs and South's three spades would all be good.

Brussels sprouts get their name from Brussels, Belgium, where they were a common vegtable as early as 1821.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

With the first warm days one does not like to think of frost. In the Kingston Leader of Saturday, May 19, 1906, one item reads in part: Much darage done by the frosts last week in Hudson River towns. The damage was particularly heavy to strawberry plants. Many of these are in blossom and the greatest yield of strawberries ever known was looked for as the acreage had been considerably increased since last year. All the blossoms were nipped and fully one-half were blackened, the frost having killed them.

Perhaps that is why strawberries are high in price, they are so fraigile yet grow so well around here in the proper weather.

No doubt many folks remember the tragic San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906. In the above paper there is a letter from Mrs. Helen More Sargent, a former Kingstonian at the time. She wrote to her mother, Mrs. W. P. More, living in Kingston. Her letter was dated April 23, 1906, and came from Tiburon, Marin Co., Calif.

It is a long letter. "Dear Mother: Since last Wednesday we have paid for and written three telegrams to be sent you. I hope at least one has been received to relieve your anxiety. I understand now no private messages are received at the office as the government needs the exclusive use of the lines. We have passed through a most awful catastrophe. We are all well and safe with plenty to eat and wear, which is more than thousands in the city can say today." (This item from the collection of Mrs. M. V. Bryant, R 3, Kingston, sent me.)

She continues in part: "Sanitary conditions so bad in San Francisco there is danger of quarantine and we want to be away because of the children. Some of neighbors were going to Oakland. Julia and I packed what we could in a half hour and left the house to the mercy of thieves. I packed my clothing and locked them in trunks. George packed and buried his in the cellar. We buried a quantity of canned goods in the back yard and started at 2:15 p. m. and walked over the burned district (three miles) to the ferry."

Further she writes: "I packed baby's wardrobe in the bottom of her buggy and laid her on top and wheeled her. Then we put our bags on Aaron's little wagon and hauled these, and I lent Edward's coaster to our friends who were going with us, to hold their baggage. It was a long difficult walk on chipped basalt blocks, bricks and wires. We got to the ferry at 5:30 and waited an hour for the boat."

The Kingston woman who lived through the 1906 San Francisco earthquake further writes to her mother in Kingston: "While at the ferry we asked for food for supper for the first time in our lives. We were obliged to. No food was to be bought, but quantities were given for the asking. It was 9 o'clock when we reached the house here. Dr. Swett met us at the Tiburon ferry with an ambulance and we were all glad to pile in and ride to the house. We were feeding 20 people here. The city has been under martial control since the earthquake. George's office is burned, with all his furniture, new carpets and $5,000 worth of law books, many of them cannot be replaced." More from this letter in a future column.

To a teen-ager, love at first sight means they haven't been introduced yet. NEA

Lucky Find

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Owners of an appliance firm were happy they permitted a curious junior high school student to rummage through some old television sets stacked at the rear of the store. Charles Ruttner, 14, found $50 in cash and $300 in checks stuffed inside the sets. The checks were made out to the appliance company but owners were puzzled how they were misplaced.

The recruits were participating in their first maneuvers. One group was told to put the local railway station out of commission so it could no longer be used. They were back within an hour, proudly stating —

Recruits—The railway station can no longer be used.

Closing the door gently, but firmly, behind him, the young lady's father spoke gravely to her suitor.

Father—Mary has told me, that you have proposed to her. Perhaps we had better talk this over.

Suitor—Of course, sir. I trust you have no objections.

Father—First, I want to ask you a very important question.

Suitor—Naturally, sir. I think you will find that my financial status is more than adequate. In fact, I have with me a statement from the bank — —

Father—No, it isn't about that. But I've heard that you frequent a number of clubs.

Suitor—Yes, sir. But they are all quite respectable.

Father—They probably are but I am told that you are on intimate terms with a number of rather wild young men who seem to have more money than brains.

Suitor—Yes, I'm afraid that is all too true. But I promise that if you will give Mary permission to marry me I will never see them again.

Father—Now, now, wait a minute. That is just what I'm driving at. I want you to bring them around here and introduce them to my other three daughters.

Health for All

When Mommy Goes Along

A hospital in the Middle East was in an uproar because of a stubborn mother. "Hysterical type!" one nurse told another. This mother insisted she wanted to stick by her little daughter's side, every moment of the time while the child was being prepared for an appendicitis operation—right up to the door of the operating room, she demanded loudly.

That was against the rules of the hospital, they tried to tell her. But, as it happens, the rules of the hospital have since been changed. They found out the woman was right. A mother should stay with her hospitalized child every possible minute.

The emotional shock that may occur when a child is put in the hospital can be serious. A Yale pediatrician recently pointed out that "the hospital environment represents a psychological hazard. The children are threatened by separation from their parents, fears of abandonment, and painful, frightening procedures in hands of strangers."

The nursing and medical staff cannot replace the mother in reassuring a frightened child, the specialist said. On the contrary, when it comes to taking care of the little one the others are only mother's helpers.

Nowadays more and more hospitals recognize these facts. A few have even made accommodations available so that Mommy can check into the hospital right along with little Debbie or Jimmy. At least she can stay in the hospital room through the child's every waking moment.

Such close attendance by the mother may be difficult to arrange from the family's point of view, especially in the case of some longlasting sickness like tuberculosis or polio. But it will pay off in a happier child who will get better faster and will not carry all through life the emotional scars of a devastating hospital experience.

Dissolve Tobacco Tars from Mouth & Throat

New, exclusive relief expressly for smokers

Tobacco tars are deposited on the sensitive membranes of your mouth and throat with every puff of a cigarette, cigar or pipe. To the possible health hazards of these foreign substances introduced into your physical system, are added the personal unpleasantness of a bad tasting mouth, and the offensiveness to others of a bad-smelling breath.

SMOKERS DROPS*, new and medicated relief from Smith Brothers, actually dissolve these gummy irritants. The special "detergent" ingredients in SMOKERS DROPS, protectively and pleasantly, emulsify and remove tobacco tars from these vital tissues. This new product, developed in the modern laboratories of famous Smith Brothers, is the ONLY relief made expressly for smokers.

Markers Showing Homes of Infirm Still Available

Seventy-four Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters Association identification stickers have been placed on homes of the aged, blind and handicapped people in the city, according to William Schreiber, chairman of the UFFA committee, who said the committee is pleased with the response.

The committee feels there are still a great number of people in the city who should make requests for the stickers, which firemen contend assist them at the scene of a fire and prevents delay in rescuing the occupants.

Identification stickers, Chairman Schreiber said, indicate to firemen in case of fires, where occupants who need assistance in leaving burning buildings, are residing. Schreiber urges all friends and relatives of the aged, blind and handicapped residents of the city, to telephone him at his home and request stickers and information regarding their purpose.

Schreiber noted there is no charge for the stickers or service by the UFFA.

Name Boys' Club Headquarters, Hoover Building

Herbert Hoover's long career in the service of humanity will reach a new milestone Sunday with the laying of the cornerstone of the Boys' Clubs of America's new headquarters, the Herbert Hoover Building.

This is the first building to bear the former president's name.

During Hoover's many decades of service to youth, a wide variety of things have been named in his honor — planets, powerhouses, roses, schools, steamships, streets and boulevards. He has received more than 300 honors and distinctions from foreign countries, ranging from the French Legion of Honor to honorary doctorates accorded him by 27 foreign universities, and literally thousands of other awards in recognition of his humanitarian public service.

Now the Boys' Club of America, by naming its headquarters for the distinguished former president, pays a fitting tribute to Mr. Hoover for having devoted such a large share of his time, energy and prestige to the Boys' Club cause. Since he became chairman of the board a quarter of a century ago, the total boy membership in Boys' Clubs of America has jumped from 140,000 to nearly 600,000 and the number of local clubs from 140 to more than 550 Boys' Clubs located in 44 states of the union.

Heavy Rain Reports Brought Demands That Howell Desist

CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
Freeman Staff Writer

This is the 14th in a series of articles on the 1950 rainmaking ventures of Dr. Wallace E. Howell, Harvard climatologist to fill New York City's badly depleted (in the Spring) reservoirs.

Fow seemed to know how many trips the rainmaker made through the clouds over the Catskills between late June and early July, but the latter month had not grown too old before reports indicated that it had rained everything but catfish and deluges of the silved iodide used in cloud-seeding.

Boards of Supervisors in Sullivan and Orange Counties had adopted resolutions demanding that New York City "desist" from its rainmaking ventures over the Catskills, and The Freeman on July 19, noting a forecast of favorable weather ahead, advised in a front-page headline:

"Forecast for Whole Month Fair and Warm; Why Don't You Let Us Alone Rainman."

Freeman Comments

Editorial comment under that said: (Attention Dr. Howell, New York Rainmaker: The following accreditation on the weather is offered by The Freeman as a public service. What you intend to do to upset the forecast is not known to us. How about taking a long-delayed vacation during this period.)

The Weather Bureau said the weather would be generally "fair and warm" from July 19 through mid-August. "Subnormal rainfall" (watch out) was forecast for the Northeast with an abundance of showers in Rocky Mountain states. The greatest departure from this generalization was to be east of Ohio and along the southern end of the Mississippi.

A cloudy, cool and rainy spell of the "past few weeks over many eastern areas," it said, "will give way to prevailing fair and warm weather.

Before this optimism, a July 6 report said that while New York looked for rain over watershed areas in the Catskills, it was getting "plenty at home."

AP Reports Storm

A windlashed rain storm, said the AP, "last night (July 5) battered New York for two hours." It knocked down trees and electric lines and stalled subway service on one line. Three feet of water flooded the basement of the Horace Harding Hospital, Elmhurst, Queens.

Six days later The Freeman reported that "Cloudbursts Hit Mountain Areas" which were swept by rains for about 24 hours.

Phoenicia reported 1.63 inches of rain in the 24 hours, Tannersville had 2.86 inches, Westkill 1.02 inches and 1.07 at Slide Mountain. A slide at the Whispell dugout, two miles west of Phoenicia blocked travel on Route 28. New York City reported nearly three inches of rain over its Croton watershed.

The supervisors in Orange County, demanding that Dr. Howell quit his experimenting, said they felt that he "might very well be responsible for the harm that "heavy rains have caused to Orange County truck farms. Farmers had told board members that "an over-abundance of rain" had damaged onion and other vegetable crops.

Less than an inch of rain was reported in the Lake Hill and Ashokan areas, and Kingston with no apparent, immediate concern for a water shortage, was concentrating on erecting a 500,000-gallon tank in the Florence Street area to provide better service for a large northern area of the city.

Newburgh Appointee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Trieste Grassi of Newburgh, N.Y., is the principal appointee to the U. S. Naval Academy of Rep. Katharine St. George (R-NY). He was designated Saturday.

FLIGHT PACKAGE—A scientist examines the tightly folded aluminum-coated plastic balloon which National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to rocket into orbit around the earth. Once in space, the metal container (show here in plastic so that the balloon may be seen) will break open and the balloon will inflate to a diameter of 100 feet. Shining like a bright star, it will act as a passive communications satellite, bouncing radio signals between widely separated stations on the ground.

'Slump 60s' Possible If Inflation Trends Go On: U.S. Chamber

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller cautioned today that the "soaring 60s" could turn into the "slump 60s" if the government pursues a course of borrowing and spending.

In an address prepared for the 48th annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mueller predicted 1960 would be the most prosperous year, and the 1960s the most prosperous decade, in history.

But this will depend, he said, on keeping private enterprise free from "excessive government-made burdens and from a fatal dose of inflation."

Several thousand businessmen and guests, opening the three-day chamber convention, were to hear also an informal talk by President Eisenhower.

Mueller said he was proud to speak for a Republican administration which strives to "maintain a climate favorable to private initiative."

"During the last seven years, the American people have had more jobs, more new homes, new schools, new hospitals and higher income than in any previous seven years," Mueller said.

"The gross national product is close to 500 billion dollars — the all-time record. Business responsibility today is to help America to stay on that right course."

But the secretary told the delegates that the 290-billion-dollar federal debt, plus future commitments on government projects, plus the liabilities building up against government retirement and pension funds and other obligations, "amount to a mortgate on future earnings of nearly three-fourths of a trillion dollars."

"Yet with all those obligations hovering over this decade, the spendthrift chorus has not yet lost its voice," Mueller said.

SAC Converting Jet Tankers to Command Posts

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The Strategic Air Command is converting three of its KC135 jet tankers into flying command posts for use in any war emergency.

Should SAC's huge underground command post at Offutt Air Force Base near here be destroyed, the big tankers would enable the command to maintain communications with its global bomber and missile force.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, Sac's commander in chief, announced plans for the airborne command posts at a news conference Sunday for members of the Aviation Writers Assn. en route to an annual meeting in Los Angeles.

Each of the three tankers is being fitted with advanced radio communication equipment. Starting July 1, one of the three will be kept on continuous alert, ready to take off within 15 minutes or less.

Gunmen Kill 2, Leave Robbery Attempt Empty

NEW YORK (AP) — Two gunmen invaded a residential hotel near Central Park in an apparent robbery attempt Sunday and fled empty-handed after killing the manager's wife and the night clerk.

The victims were Mrs. Ether Frankel, 49, and Walter Cushenberry, 50, a Negro.

Isador Frankel, 70 - year - old manager of the Park View Hotel on West 96th Street, was slugged on the head.

He told police he was roused around dawn by a knock at the door of his first-floor apartment. "I asked who it was. Some man said, 'I have a telegram for you. Please open the door'." Frankel said.

When he did, he was struck with a gun. His wife, coming to see what was wrong, was shot through the chest. Cushenberry's body was found on the floor in the lobby. He had been shot in the head.

Police said the killers, described as Negroes, apparently intended stealing rent receipts from the Frankel apartment. But there was less than $100 there and only about $10 in the hotel cash drawer. Nothing was taken.

Most of the residents of the eight-story hotel slept through the killings.

One Major Difference

Nixon Buildup Is Likened To FDR's Use of Wallace

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower can get an argument on his idea that no vice president in history had such careful preparation as Richard M. Nixon for carrying out the duties of the presidency.

What about Henry Wallace? President Roosevelt made a lot of use of the tall Iowan when he was vice president from 1941 to 1945. Wallace's total experience in government was probably broader than Nixon's.

Best Prepared: Ike

In the 1956 campaign, when Eisenhower and Nixon were running for re-election, the President told a Republican picnic at Gettsburg: "There's no man in the history of America who has had such a careful preparation as has Vice President Nixon for carrying out the duties of the presidency, if those duties should ever fall spon him."

Last week Democrats jumped on Eisenhower for saying he may let Nixon sit in for him at the summit meeting this month if it runs too long. They interpreted this as an effort to build up Nixon for this year's presidential campaign.

But looking back — particularly upon the four years since that statement in Gettysburg in 1956 —the wonder is not so much about the use Eisenhower has made of Nixon but that he has not used him far more.

Nixon served in the House and Senate, thus getting insights into the legislative branch of government. Wallace was never in Congress.

But from 1933 until 1941 Wallace as secretary of agriculture under Roosevelt, headed one of the most important and controversial agencies of the executive branch.

That's a kind of experience Nixon never had. He sits in on meetings of the Cabinet and the National Security Council. But Wallace was in Roosevelt's Cabinet, too.

Eisenhower has used Nixon as a goodwill ambassador and personal representative to foreigh countries—he has visited 55.

Roosevelt used Wallace as a "messenger," to use his own phrase, and goodwill ambassador, too. He sent Wallace to the Soviet Union, China, India, and Latin America.

Although Nixon served on a couple of minor committees appointed by Eisenhower, Roosevelt used Wallace in far more important jobs while Wallace was vice president before and after we got into the war.

Nixon Is Politician

Wallace became a member of the Commission on Inter-American Affairs. He was chairman of the Economic Defense Board and head of the Board of Economic Warfare.

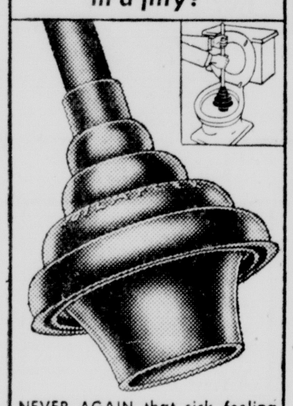

But there is one big difference between the vice presidencies of Nixon and Wallace. Nixon is a politician; Wallace never was. The Republican pros are in Nixon's corner, all set to nominate him for president.

But in 1944 the Democratic pros teamed up against Wallace. This was when Roosevelt sought a fourth term, his health was failing, and it seemed possible his vice president might become president through Roosevelt's death.

Southern Democrats and the Democrats' big city bosses blocked Wallace from running for the vice presidency again. Roosevelt did not fight for him and Harry S. Truman got the nomination.

Eisenhower already has given Nixon his heart endorsement for the presidency.

Theft From Sports Car Under Probe

The Ulster County sheriff's office is investigating the theft of three tires from a sports car parked at The Barn on Route 28 early this morning.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone, who is investigating the theft, said the thieves jacked up the rear of the vehicle, owned by Arthur Granquist of 15 Van Deusen Street, and set blocks underneath.

The two rear tires and a spare were removed. They are whitewall tires.

The loss was discovered about 1 a. m. today. Initial investigation was by Deputies Arthur Smith and Charles Dulles.

The Central Hudson report also noted the decision of the Frye Manufacturing Company of Des Moines, Iowa, a leading producer of carbon papers, to establish a $270,000 eastern branch factory at New Windsor, near Newburgh. The efforts of Central Hudson Industrial Development representatives, in cooperation with the Newburgh Chamber of Commerce and the New York State Department of Commerce, were reported as having contributed to the selection by the Frye organization of the Mid-Hudson Valley site.

On a per-share basis, the utility's earnings were 47.8 cents for the first three months of 1960 and $1.43 cents for the 12-month period on the 3,369,228 common shares outstanding, as compared with the 1959 figures of 45.6 cents and $1.20 on 3,364,615 shares.

Woman Held

the time of the holdup, and two other men who became aware of what had happened, chased the suspect east on Cannon Street. Mrs. Brouthers had sounded the alarm to police and she followed in pursuit shouting she had been robbed.

Warning Shot Fired

Patrolman Stanley Dahowski, who was among the first policemen to arrive on the scene, fired a warning shot in the air as he took up the chase. Lieutenant George Traver arrived and he grabbed the woman and took her to police headquarters for questioning. The money was recovered but authorities impounded it for evidence.

District Attorney Raymond Baratta is preparing the case for presentation to the grand jury, and an early report is expected, he said.

Dr. Soper said he had been advised by the Board of Elections that the section of the election law dealing with instructions to voters, "has been amended to make it possible for the voters to use a check mark" as well as the X.

At the school election held in May, 1959, he noted, "it was necessary to void ballots marked with a check mark. "This change will be part of instructions given to election inspectors in the 18 school election districts."

Drivers Pay Fines

Two drivers paid fines on traffic charges in city court today and one forfeited $5 bail. Harlan H. Edwards, 21, of Dover, Del., charged with a double white line violation, forfeited. Edward Gibbons, of East Kingston paid $10 on a charge that he drove without a licence, and John Ciak, of Hazardville, Conn, paid $5 on a faulty muffler charge.

Third Arrest Is Made in Theft At Briggs Store

A third man has been arrested on a charge of burglary third degree involving the alleged theft of a Westinghouse stereophonic hi-fi set from J. Ellis Briggs, Inc., electrical appliances, on Route 9W just north of Kingston.

Arthur Holmes, 23, of 8 Pine Street, was picked up by state and city police over the weekend in conection with the burglary which occured about midnight last Monday.

He was arrested at 83 Hasbrouck Avenue by Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, of the Kingston state police, Detective Charles McCullough and Patrolmen Gerald Every and Thomas Coffey of the Kingston Police Department.

Arrested last Tuesday were: Cornelius Kidney, 7 Russell Street, Saugerties.

Bernard Johnston, RD 2, Box 124, Sawkill.

Kidney and Johnston are 20 years old.

The men reportedly parked their car a short distance from the building, gaining entry by breaking a pane in the rear of the structure and unlocking the window.

The set was reportedly valued at $170.

Kidney and Johnston were arrainged last week before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the town of Ulster, waived examination and were committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

Holmes was arrainged before Judge Reilly over the weekend, also waived and was committed to jail for grand jury action.

Holmes reportedly attempted to give police the slip when they appeared at the front door of 83 Hasbrouck Avenue. He dashed out the back door—right into the arms of police who were guarding that exit.

NATO Ministers

vided this is done under adequate and effective controls to keep the powers from cheating. The West wants the summit meeting to issue some concrete joint suggestions to the 10-power bgeneva conference.

Neither Premier Adnan Menderes nor President Celal Bayar was on hand to greet the ministers, apparently because they had their hands full with the local crisis. Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu acted for them.

Halvard Lange, foreign minister of Norway and current chairman of the NATO council, opened the session and said all the Atlantic allies look to the Big Four summit conference opening in Paris May 16 for "a first step toward disarmament under effective international control."

"There can be no doubt that the alternative to disarmament today is a nuclear arms race with all its terrible implications," said Lange.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told their colleagues in preconference meetings Sunday the Western Big Three would propose to the Soviet Union that both West and East Germany vote in a plebiscite to determine whether the Soviet plan for achieving German unification or the Western plan should be followed.

The Soviets rejected a proposal by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer last month to hold a plebiscite of West Berliners to decide whether they want to end the occupation of their city.

NEW YORK (AP)—A cautious stock market remained poised slightly above its 1960 low early this afternoon in moderate trading.

Most key stocks showed minor changes. A few specially situated issues showed gains or losses running to about 2 points.

Market analysts saw the list as undergoing a "test" to see whether it would drop below the previous support level or mount another recovery drive.

Steels were unchanged to a bit higher despite prospects of another sizable drop in production. Big Three motor shares were mixed. Rails edged ahead on balance. Utilities were off slightly.

Aircrafts showed a slightly lower trend. Oils, airlines, electronics and drugs were irregular.

Republic Steel rose about a point. Chrysler, which fell 4⅝ last week, was down about a point. DuPont picked up more than a point.

Minerals & Chemicals fell about 2.

Ahead about 2 or better were American Photocopy, American Home Products and Brunswick Corp.

Rocky's Veto

however, with the understanding it would be amended next year to exclude cities.

City school districts that do not now provide transportation were the chief critics of the bill.

The law will apply essentially to districts that now provide transportation for both public and private schools, most of the latter Roman Catholic parochial schools.

Those districts will be required to transport pupils up to 10 miles each way. The present maximum is 8 miles.

The legislation approved Saturday also included a measure clarifying the right of newsmen to inspect public welfare records. The newsmen would be allowed to print the names of any convicted welfare cheats they found. But they would be barred from publicizing names of bona fide welfare recipients.

The governor vetoed a measure that would have required women to file criminal complaints of desertion against their husbands before the wives could obtain public relief on the ground the husbands had deserted them.

Rockefeller said such a requirement could destroy any possibility of reconciliation.

Despite protests from New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Rockefeller signed a bill eliminating the city's requirement that containers of milk bear the date the milk was pasteurized. The governor said modern refrigeration, transportation and inspection facilities had made the 48-year-old rule obsolete. Dairymen had sought the bill.

In announcing his approval of the school-bus bill, Rockefeller said that, without the city provisions, it was "in concert with the spirit and carries forward the basic concept of the present law."

City school districts now are not required to furnish transportation. Many complained the bill would put a severe strain on their finances.

The Education Department informed the governor the legislation would force cities to set up transportation systems.

Rockefeller reportedly was under political pressure to approve the bill rather than risk the possibility of alienating Catholic votes from Republican candidates in this election year.

The plan to have the 1961 Legislature amend the bill to exclude cities removed the educators' major complaint and opened the way for the governor to sign the bill.

The legislation also removes a requirement under which parents of private-school children must appeal to annual school district meetings for the transportation for their children. The governor said the rule was "cumbersome."

A combination of previous state laws and rulings from education commissioners has resulted in a general situation in which most non-city districts must provide transportation equally for public and non-public elementary pupils living between two and eight miles of their schools. High school students living between three and eight miles also receive transportation.

Other Bills Approved

Rockefeller approved other bills that:

Create the Ogdensburg Bridge and Port Authority to replace the Ogdensburg Bridge Authority.

Allow formation of private corporations to construct and maintain sewage-disposal systems in real-estate developments and other private tracts.

Allow children 12 and 13 to harvest berries, fruits and vegetables during school vacations, provided they have parents' permission and work certificates attesting they are healthy.

The governor vetoed measures that would have:

Appropriated an additional $100,000 for the Mt. Van Hoevenberg bobsled run at Lake Placid and shifted the facility to the new Adirondack Mountain Authority. The governor said the run had lost money consistently and could jeopardize the authority's operations. A $47,000 appropriation for Mt. Van Hoevenberg was approved earlier.

Increased from $2,500 to $5,000 the maximum amount that state and local government agencies could spend on public works projects without competitive bidding.

Established a state board of examiners to regulate funeral directors, a job now handled by the State Health Department.

Provided more state aid for school districts with enrollments increased by children whose fathers moved into the area to work on state power projects. The governor said nearly 1½ million dollars had been appropriated last year for these districts.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Savings Account Advised For Definite Return Date

Q) "We would like to set up a special fund so that at the end of eight years we can have about $2,000 for our son's Bar Mitzvah. We cannot decide whether to deposit $15 or $20 a month in the bank for that purpose or to invest that amount in mutual funds. Would appreciate your advice."—J. F.

A) I know that your son's Bar Mitzvah is one of the most important events in his life and yours. What you require, it seems to me, is absolute surety that the sum you have fixed on to mark the occasion is ready in its entirety exactly when you need it. I don't believe that mutual funds or any other form of stock investment should be relied on to fulfill that purpose. My opinion is that the overall trend of stock prices is toward higher levels in the late 60's, but that there will be occasional dips in the economy and in the stock market, some of them possibly rather severe. If your son's Bar Mitzvah happened to coincide with one of these dips, you might be unable to achieve what you have in mind for him, if you owned stock and had to sell. To accumulate a definite sum of money on a specific date without risk, I believe monthly savings deposits are your best bet.

Q) "I am interested in growth. Which do you prefer, Long Island Lighting or International Telephone?"—M. R.

A) This is like comparing bananas and apples. Long Island Lighting promises steady growth at a rate faster than the utility group as a whole. There is a good yield and relatively little market risk in this situation. International Telephone is mainly a manufacturer of electronic and telephone equipment in foreign countries. I like both stocks. However, if you can afford a higher degree of market risk and do not need income, I believe there is a bigger and probably faster growth potential in International Telephone.

SMOKE DREAMS

While Dr. Trylon Error has been fairly successful in preserving meat and fish by smoking them, fruits and vegetables still defy his every effort. He's hoping to make a break-through, though, and from then on, to save bushels of money by letting the family freezer stand idle.

ACTUALLY, his savings on electricity wouldn't begin to pay for the bushels of produce he's wasted so far. It costs only $1.73 monthly to keep a well-stocked freezer working for a big family . . . just another reason why the average family is using twice as much electricity as in 1947.

LISA TIANO, Correspondent

Nominate Alan F. Styles For American Legion Commander

Alan Styles, the current vice commander, has been nominated for commander of Woodstock Post No. 1026 of the American Legion. Styles was recommended by the nominating committee at the April meeting of the local post.

Long active in Legion affairs, Styles has been acting commander in recent months. He is also bar steward and has served on many committees in the past.

Other recommendations of the nominating committee follow:

Vice Commanders — Warren Hyde, Alfred Allen and Frank Cable; Adjutant, William Peirpont; Finance Officer, Wayne Underhill; Sergeant - at - Arms, George Rowland; Chaplain, Jack Chalmers; Historian, Morton S. Moseman; Welfare and Service Officer, Jack Feeley; Trustee, Benjamin Buley. The elections will be held at the May meeting.

The post named three delegates to the county convention for the first time, since the membership has passed the 150 mark for an all-time high. The delegates are: Wayne Underhill, William Melville and William Polk, who is a candidate for the post of county commander. The alternates are Arthur Case, Craig Smith and Schuyler Schultz.

Committee Increased

An expanded Flag Committee to supervise sale and distribution of the new flag was announced. Alan Styles is general chairman and together with Wayne Underhill will contact persons and organizations in Woodstock township.

Other members of the committee and the areas they will service are: Louis Enider, Robert Bartlett and Schyler Schultz, Lake Hill; William Piepont, Rock City Road, Byrdcliffe area; Grant Gavin, Warren Hyde, Bearsville; Don Adams and Everett Cashdollar, Wittenberg; Stanley Moss and Lary Deede, West Hurley; and George Hucker, Zena.

Jack Feely, chairman of the Old Timers Night which honored Bob Browning reported the affair was a huge success. Browning was presented with an honorary life membership in the local post. Thanks were extended to the Community Bake Shop for presenting a cake to the post for the night.

Plans are being formulated for a carnival during the month of July. Details will be announced later. Louis Snider is general chairman and will pick his own committee.

The post endorsed the county Legion's support of the campaign to help retarded children and William Polk was named chairman from Woodstock.

Two members of the post are currently hospitalized — John Cochrane at Kingston Hospital and Louis Snider at Albany Veterans Hospital.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Education Facts By Schimmerling

Here are two alarming factors: The publishers of one of the leading piano methods found it necessary to simplify grade level books which have been adequate for quite some time. In other words, methods which were not too difficult up to a recent date seem to be too hard for this generation of young piano students. Should this be the beginning of a spiral which would make it necessary to simplify for the next generation the simplified edition of the present generation.

Prof. Paul Nettl, eminent musicologist, added three interesting books to the galaxy of his works published in the USA and abroad. What is so alarming about this? The fact that an American citizen, for a long time profesor of musicology at Indiana University finds it necessary to have his works published by European publishers: Mozart and The Dance, published by Werner Classen (Zurich - Stuttgart), Beethoven by Fischer (Frankfurst a. M) and George F. Handel by Merseburger (Berlin).

Years ago, Emil Ludwig's Lincoln and Napoleon was published in Germany. For the same token one might say that these titles have more appeal to the American and French reader respectively. And the same German publisher that published Nettl's Beethoven previously published books by Jean Girondeux, Somerset Maugham, John Galsworthy and A. de Tocqueville's The Democracy in America.

By the way, Nettl's Beethoven book contains very interesting data on Beethoven's descendants in America, give for the first time in Europe. Nettl who learned some facts from the Austrian writer, Dr. Robert Homolka, reports that Beethoven's grand-nephew, Ludwig van Beethoven came to the United States on September 15, 1871. He went to Rochester and later moved with his family to Buffalo and Montreal.

Was Excellent Pianist

His wife was an excellent pianist and gave concerts in Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa and Detroit where she — Maria — was hailed on occasion of a concert given together with the Philharmonic Society. Ludwig got a job with the Michigan Central Railroad and moved to Jackson, Mich., where Maria was active as piano teacher. In 1847 Ludwig together with a Stiles family started a new business in Chicago (Messenger Boy Institute) which was a huge success. The Beethovens moved to Staten Island. At this time his business letterhead reads "New York Commisionar Company. General Office: German Savings Bank Building, Corner 14th street and 4th avenue; Branch Office 1130 Broadway, Louis Van Hoven, Managing Director."

Thus we have arrived at the answer to the question why Beethoven's descendancy in America was up to now only a legend. It was the change of name from "Van Beethoven" to "Van Hoven." Now let us watch out for anyone with the name "Hoven." A blood test might reveal, there is a drop of Eroica blood in his veins. But as it looks there was nothing of heroism in Louis, who finally became director of the Pacific Railroad in New York. Such and more hitherto unknown issues are told in Nettl's Beethoven book.

Again I ask why were these books published in Europe? Nettl has a leading teaching position in one of our finest universities' music department. There are only two reasons as I see them: Either the royalties paid by the German and Swiss publishers are more attractive because this type of books sells better over there than here: or our own publishers are not enough interested in publishing this type of books for commercial reasons, i.e., they wouldn't sell too well. The result is the same. And it is a discouraging result, indeed. Whatever the answer might be, we can be proud that Prof. Nettl is one of our American co-citizens . . . H. A. Schimmerling.

Library Fair Center Is Open

From the slopes of Overlook to the creek bottomland of the Sawkill, everyone is spring cleaning inside and outside. And now that this frenzy of cleaning up and storing away is running at flood tide, madam, stop a bit and remember that the Library Fair building is open every Saturday from 2 to 5 p. m.

Before you burn those leaves and old bookcases and chair which could set the fields on fire, remember that old furniture is most welcome. In fact, just about everything which you may have outgrown or grown weary of is welcome, provided it is clean and in reasonably decent shape and condition. Set it aside for the Fair.

Isn't it wonderful that we don't all like the same sort of things! Fair patrons can be thankful that we are not all munching miltowns and accommodating ourselves to une vie standardisee. Jane abhors the bowl Aunt Tillier sent her last Christmas, but Joan secretly adores it. So Jane is taking the bowl to the Fair building. Joan will have her chance July 28th when the Fair opens at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Get out the old books, fish rods, out-grown skis, old pots and pans which were replaced, the smocked dresses saved for future grandchildren (Life is uncertain). . no matter what and bring it to the Fair building early, before the summer traffic gets heavy and tempers and time grow short. To repeat: every Saturday from 2 to 5 p. m. a certain building in Woodstock is open.

Mazzuca's Splits

Jack Ferraro Sparks Dairymen to Four Wins

Jackie Ferraro shot 694 and 652 to pace Jones Dairy keglers to four wins in six weekend games in the Hudson Valley League. The Dairymen, who have cemented second place in the circuit, scored 3206 sticks against Mazzuca's Esso and then had a 2953 series at the always tough Kiamesha Lanes.

Mazzuca's split even in six games over the weekend. The locals dropped a pair to the red hot Jones club and then took two against the Liberty Triangle Diner.

Ferraro was one of four keglers over the 600 mark with his huge series against Mazzuca's. He shot 247, 232 and 215 for his gaudy total. However, he had plenty of help. Chris Gallo scored 234, 216 and 222 for 672, John Ferraro Sr. made 227, 182 and 256 for 665 and John Schatzel hit the charmed figure right on the button with 214, 183 and 203 for 600. Angie Fondino collected 575 sticks as a substitute for George Shufeldt.

Ralph Garofalo sparked the losers with 195 243 and 207 for 645 and Vince Carpino scored 228, 235 and 174 for 637. Mazzuca's won a high scoring second game, 1056-1002 but was bombed in the other two as Jones had 1116 in the opener and closed with 1088.

Ferraro splattered the wood for games of 199, 243 and 210 for his big 652 blast against Kiamesha. Shufeldt aided with 211, 257 and 159 for 627. Drobysh socked 664 and Lauterswel 617 for Kiamesha. The home side won the first game, 923-854 but then the Dairymen scored 1089 and 1010 to easily sweep the remaining pair.

Jerry Kaplan closed with 232 after openers of 186 and 184 to lead Mazzuca's against Liberty. Charles Schoonmaker shot 645 and Jim Wheeler 605 for the losers but their other hitters were well below those figures.

No Argument About Record Set by Thomas

By ED CORRIGAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Thomas, a solemn-faced youngster of 19, can relax now and watch the others try to catch up to him because he has finally become the world high jump champion.

Even though there's no one who comes even remotely close—that includes the Soviets—Thomas was strictly second best according to the books until he soared 7 feet, 1½ inches at the Penn Relays Saturday.

He's a quiet one, this 6-5, 194-pound Boston University sophomore, but it had been a source of annoyance to him that Yuri (Elevator Shoe) Stepanov of the Soviet Union was down as the recognized world champion with a 7-1 mark.

That Stepanov was on his mind there could be no doubt. Hardly had he picked himself up after his record leap than he murmured: "It's nice to have the record back in the United States."

Even more galling to him was the fact that even though Stepanov's record was accepted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the body promptly ruled out the type of shoes used by the Soviet. They had built-up soles which most coaches thought added an inch to his potential.

There won't be any argument about Thomas' standard, which, incidentally, was set under miserable weather conditions. A strong breeze was blowing, clouds hung low over Franklin Field and a heavy drizzle was falling.

Bill Collins Is Shaky Leader Over Palmer in Golf Meet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Big, blond Bill Collins, who claims he doesn't even think of the pressure, led the Houston Classic golf tournament into its final round today but the story still was: Will Arnold Palmer make it six?

Collins, the man from Baltimore who plays his golf out of Crystal River, Fla., shot a 4-under-par 68 Sunday to snare the lead by two strokes over Palmer, the Masters champion from Ligonier, Pa., who has won five tournaments this year and is the greatest money earner for the period involved in golfing history. He has banked $44,257.57.

Collins had 205 for 54 holes. Palmer, who shot a 70 in the third round, had 207.

This is not a very long lead for a fellow having to fight off the hottest man in golf today. But Collins professed not to be thinking of the pressure.

Collins attributed his showing here largely to a driver he borrowed from his golfing friend, Fred Gronauer of Briarcliff, N.Y. "I was driving so badly with my No. 1 wood that I often used a No. 1 iron until I got this driver," Collins declared.

Palmer was looking at the scoreboard Sunday when he came to the eighteenth green. He was finishing just ahead of Collins and at that time was three strokes behind. He ran down an 18-foot putt for a birdie and looked confident as he strode off the green.

Colonial Tire Winner Of Bowlero Mixed Loop

Bob Schneider led the men shooters with a 179.62 average and Mary Kennelly scored 162.21 to pace the ladies. Charlotte Gray had 575 triple and Bob Schneider a 683 blast for individual highs and Elinor Burberg's 234 solo and Schneider's 259 topped that department.

Crusaders Clinch 'Y' Hocky Title

Although held to a 4-4 tie by the Leaders in their last start, the Crusaders captured the YMCA Floor Hockey league title with four wins, a loss and seven ties. They beat the second place Trojans by a half-game.

Members of the winning squad are Captain Larry Short, Peter Lewis, Alan Grossman, Bob Tomaseski, John Cronin, James Cronin and Dave Eberle.

Selected to the All-Star squad were Arthur Mowle, Robert Rundle, Steven Bentley, Earl Kirn, Gregory Moore, Michael VanValkenburgh and Philip Clum.

VanValkenburgh scored two goals as the Warriors bowed, 3-2, to the Trojans. Burton Bodie, Howard Bodie and Rundle tallied for the winners.

The Leaders trailed, 3-1, starting the final period against the Trojans but had Jack Baltz, Bentley and Clum tally to send them ahead. However, Short knotted the count with 30 seconds to play and helped his teammates clinch the title.

The final standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied
Crusaders	4	1	7
Trojans	4	2	6
Warriors	4	3	5

Derby Trial Set For Tuesday At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Twelve or 13 horses whose owners are hoping they'll show something worthy of a place in the Kentucky Derby are expected to vie Tuesday in the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

However, there is plenty of support for the contention that the Derby winner isn't scheduled for a start in the one mile trial.

"The Derby's a two-horse race now," said trainer Jimmy Jones of Calumet Farm. "If you can pick right between Bally Ache and Tompion, you've got the winner. The rest of us are just shooting for third and fourth monies."

Bally Ache picked up backers on the strength of his impressive 3-length win over Venetian Way in the 7-furlong Stepping Stone Saturday. Tompion, winner of Thursday's Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, has been the winter book favorite for the 86th run for the roses.

Neither is expected to run again before Saturday.

Calumet, which has furnished seven Derby winners, will have the entry of Hillsborough and Pied D'Or going in the trial. Others expected to race are Bourbon Prince, Beau Purple, Spring Broker, Yomolka, El Zag, Fighting Hodge, Effonlyi, Cuvier Relic, Orbit's Top and Command Pilot. Eagle Admiral is a doubtful starter.

U. S. Open Slated At Denver Course

DENVER (AP) — The nation's top golfers will tackle the fifth-longest course in U.S. Open history when the three-day medal play test opens at Cherry Hills June 16.

The course has been lengthened to 7,004 yards and par cut to 35-36—71. It will be longer, and probably tougher, than when the first U. S. Open ever held in Colorado was played at Cherry Hills in 1938.

Judy Eller Seeks Women's Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Young Curtiss cupper Judy Eller started after her second straight Women's Southern Amateur Golf title today with her chief competitor a Texas veteran who has won the crown five times.

Miss Eller, the pretty 19-year-old pride of Old Hickory Tenn., leaves in two weeks for the Curtiss Cup matches against the British. But for the next six days, her chief worry will be to retain the championship she won at Birmingham, Ala., last year.

The consensus is that Miss Eller is the one to beat, but she figures to get a big argument from Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

Miss Riley, who makes a hobby of collecting Southern golf titles, lost to Miss Eller 2 and 1 in the gripping 36-hole final round last year.

The qualifying round to determine the 32 entries in the championship flight was on tap today with 160 golfers shooting for the coveted berths. Match plays starts Tuesday with the finals set for Saturday.

Tribe Rookies Come Through; Pirates in Big Hitting Mood

Pitch Indians To Double Win Over Kansas City

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Frank Lane traded away Cal McLish, his 19-game winner, the Cleveland Indians announced that they were going to gamble with young pitchers.

Wynn Hawkins and Dick Stigman, two 24-year-old members of the 1960 rookie crop, made General Manager Lane and Manager Joe Gordon look good Sunday when they managed complete games in a doubleheader sweep over Kansas City.

Pitches Distance

Hawkins, a right-hander from the Mobile farm, allowed 10 hits but lasted nine innings to win his second game 6-4 with the help of five runs batted in on two homers by Bubba Phillips.

Stigman, a southpaw out of San Diego, turned in a steady six-hit effort in the 3-1 second game, won by Vic Powers's two-run single.

Despite the success of these precocious Indians, the defending champion Chicago White Sox took over the undisputed American League lead for the first time this season. The White Sox whipped Detroit 6-3 and 5-2 on the relief pitching of Gerry Staley and Frank Baumann.

Baltimore's young Chuck Estrada survived a three-run first inning and went all the way to a 9-5 decision over the New York Yankees. A Washington-Boston doubleheader was rained out.

Phillips Hits Pair

Hawkins might have needed relief if it hadn't been for Phillips' slugging. He was nicked for two homers by Norm Siebern and one by Whitey Herzog among the 10 Kansas City hits. The Indians piled up an early lead off loser Ned Garver.

Stigman helped himself in the second game. He started a rally with a single to open the fifth. After a sacrifice and a single by Johnny Temple, the pitcher bumped into catcher Harry Chiti at the plate and the catcher dropped the ball. The only run off the lefty was unearned.

Belt Reds, 13-2, As Vernon Law Wins 4th Game

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pre-season line on Pittsburgh read: "Sound defense, good speed, thin pitching, lacks power." This is the same club that scored 12 runs Saturday and 13 runs Sunday while stretching its winning streak to nine games, the club's longest since 1944.

What happened?

Fat Averages

The batting averages tell part of the story: Smoky Burgess, .438. Roberto Clemente, .377. Dick Groat, .349. Bob Skinner, .327. The pitching records tell the rest: Vern Law 4-0, Bob Friend 3-0.

Law has come into his own to gain belated recognition as one of the very best pitchers in the National League. Overshadowed by Friend in previous years, Law compiled a brilliant 18-9 season last year only to play second fiddle to Elroy Face's sensational relief pitching (18-1).

There has been no stopping Law this season. His fourth straight Sunday was a sound nine-hitter over Cincinnati 13-2. He grew steadily better as the game went on, allowing only three harmless singles after the third inning.

Clemente got the Pirates off winging with a bases loaded home run off Don Newcombe in the first inning. Bill Mazeroski followed with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Has Two Game Lead

Pittsburgh's Sunday victory opened up a two-game lead on idle San Francisco which, like Los Angeles, had an unusual Sunday open date.

Billy Bruton collected five hits, including his first homer of the year, in Milwaukee's 5-4 victory over Philadelphia. Don McMahon rescued Lew Burdette in the ninth after a three-run rally had left the Phils only one short of a tie.

Tony Taylor was the big man for the Chicago Cubs, driving in three runs with his four hits in a 5-4 decision over St. Louis. Don Elston's fine relief work as the third Cub pitcher saved the victory for starter Glen Hobbie.

American Boxers Set For Australia Bout

Associated Press Sports Writer

Don boxing gloves and see the world.

If you are a fighter and can't get any action in your own country, try another. That seems to be the vogue in the ancient trade of leather-pushing these days.

While the United States is being invaded by Latin American and European fighters, American boxers are trying their luck elsewhere. Australia has become a happy hunting grounds for American fighters.

Two American welterweight contenders—Rudell Stitch of Louisville, Kky., and Ralph Dupas of New Orleans—were featured in 12-round main event at Sydney, Australia today.

It was Dupas' second fight in Sydney in three weeks. Last April 11 he scored a big hit with Aussie fans in easly outpointing Australian George Barnes, the British Empire welterweight champion.

No. 2 Contender

Stitch is the No. 2 welterweight contender. Dupas is ranked eighth. They had met once before. Stich outpointed Dupas in a 10-rounder at Louisville, Oct. 7.

Larry Baker, the New York welterweight who has had difficulty getting work in his own area, journeys to the 50th state—Hawaii—for a Tuesday night scrap with Hawaiian Stan Harrington in Honolulu. Last month, Baker traveled to Liverpool, England and stopped Tony Smith in two rounds.

Two Buffalo lightweights, unbeaten Jackie Donnelly and Bobby Scanlon, meet in their hometown Tuesday night for the New York State 135-pound title.

Harold Johnson, the No. 1 light heavyweight contender from Philadelphia, aims for his 12th straight victory Wednesday night in a television (ABC 10 p. m.) ten-rounder at Philadelphia. The veteran challenger takes on Clarence (Tiger) Floyd of New York, ranked sixth in the 175- pound class.

Willie Pastrano, third - ranking lightheavyweight contender from Miami Beach, Fla., faces heavyweight Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh in the Friday night television (NBC 10 p. m.) headliner.

Smith Captures Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Charles Smith of Gastonia, N.C., for many years known principally as the younger brother of Dave Smith, the self-styled "Big 'Un," has come into his own as a top notch amateur golfer.

When Charles beat college sophomore Peter Green 5 and 3 Saturday in the finals of the North and South Tournament, he established himself as a player in his own right.

No longer need he be identified primarily as the brother of 240-pound, 6-5 Dave who is one of the longest hitters in amateur golf. Charles, who is 29, is a strong 6-1, 210-pounder and a graduate of The Citadel, South Carolina's military college at Charleston. The brothers operate an automobile agency at Gastonia.

The victory over Green, 19-year-old from Franklin, Mich., and the University of North Carolina, gave Charles his first major championship and a new confidence based on the knowledge that he can beat top amateurs.

No. 18—Wrist High

By JIMMY DEMARET
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The accompanying illustration points out a tremendously important fact of left-hand gripping.

Notice the slight angle created by the arm and the club shaft and that the hand is actually under the wrist and closer to the body. In other words the wrist is raised or high. This is an extremely strong position. It will do the most to protect the relative position of the club-face to the ball throughout.

Wrist high, hand under

Practice this wrist-high, hand-under position by checking your left-hand grip in a mirror from the angle shown here. It will do more to make the left arm, hand and club work as a unit than any position you can use.

Prove this to yourself by first holding the club this way. Then lower the wrist, increasing the angle between the shaft or the club and the arm. Feel how weak and loose the wrist becomes. It is this weakness, with its tendency to permit separate function of the arm and the club, which you will want to constantly guard against.

On the other hand, be sure to prevent the hand from having to work too far under.

This opposite extreme causes such a tension-wracked relationship between arm, wrist and hand that you will be gripping the club totally without comfort, flexible control or power.

NEXT: Gripping the club with the right hand.

Ernie Davis Stars For Orange '11'

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, with spring training ended, may look forward optimistically to defending his national collegiate football championship—he has Ernie Davis.

Davis, 205-pound halfback and leading ground-gainer for the national champions, riddled a star-studded alumni team Saturday as the Varsity crunched to a 21-15 victory.

Davis scored twice on short passes from quarterback Dave Sarette. Both will be juniors this fall.

Fullback Gary Fallon punched seven yards in the second period for the other Varsity touchdown. Approximately 8,000 were on hand for the exhibition at Archbold Stadium.

The alumni, on passes by graduating senior Jim Saylor, scored twice after the varsity had run the score to 21-0. Saylor hit Ger Schwedes, 1959 captain and high scorer, from nine-yards out and connected with Carl Karilivacz of the Los Angeles Rams on a 29-yard play.

Miss Notaro Seeks Third All-Events Bowling Crown

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—A two-time all-events champion today was leading the field in the New York State Women's Bowling Tournament again, but her toughest competition for another title might come next weekend.

Phyllis Notaro of Buffalo, all-events winner in 1955 and 1958, bowled 1,828 to take the lead Sunday. The record of 1,849 was set by teammate Helen Greene of Buffalo in 1949.

But the only three-time winner in the tournament's history, Rose Schatzel of Kingston, is scheduled to bowl next weekend. Rose won the all-events title in 1951, 1952 and 1957. She will roll with Manhattan Ball of Kingston.

Miss Notaro grabbed the runner-up spot in the singles with 629 and her team, Simon-Pure of Buffalo, took the fourth spot among teams with 2,656.

There were no other changes among the leaders in any event.

Miss Notaro rolled 629 in the singles, 615 in the doubles and 584 in the team event. Her highest game was a 224 in the singles.

Other leaders:

Team, Luscher's Tornadoes, Rochester, 2770; doubles, Lorraine Albeke-Marie Verrastro, Port Chester, 1173; singles, Betty Gajewski, Buffalo, 632.

The turnout on Saturday at the registration was poor and many of the players were taking part in school functions so the extra day has been added tonight.

Elmira Kegler Is Leader In State Bowling Tourney

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The highest three-game set of the tournament, a 741, has helped boost Ed Hughes of Elmira to the all-events scatch lead in the New York State Men's Bowling Tournament.

Hughes compiled a 1995 actual-pin score Sunday on triples of 632 in the singles and 622 in the team event in addition to his 741 in the doubles.

Two Watertown bowlers, Bud Minor and George La Saga, rode into first place in the handicap doubles event with a 1406. It topped the previous leaders, Pete King and Joe Mendelson of Buffalo, who rolled 1357 last weekend. Gerry Moremus and Russ Grant of Cortland hit 1353 to tie for third in the doubles.

A 3167 by Courier Press of Fairmont was good enough to take over second place in the team event.

Frosty Nights Are Possible During Week

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Here are the extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Saturday:

Eastern New York—A few light showers, mostly north and west portions early in the week and more general showers latter part of the week. Total precipitation averaging about ½ inch. About normal temperatures throughout the week with risk of frosty nights.

Western New York — Showery weather is indicated with temperatures expected to average a little below normal. Rather cool with scattered showers Tuesday and Wednesday. Warmer Thursday followed by rain. Cooler with showers Friday or Saturday. One-quarter inch or more rain is likely.

Temperature normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from daytime highs in the middle 50s to middle 60s, to overnight lows in the middle 30s to 40s.

Goodwill Messages Are Disrupted by Storm

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Operation Goodwill, the broadcasting of friendship messages by amateur radio operators, ran into atmospheric difficulties.

David L. Marks, chairman of the project, said the broadcasts Sunday were to counteract traditional May Day propaganda from Communist nations. He said his group made contact with hams in Latin America, the Near East and Africa, but a severe magnetic storm disrupted messages to Europe.

Marks had asked hams in Albany to contact 10 other hams and ask the 10 each to contact 10 more, with the message "On this May 1, I send you my message of friendship and good will and my hope for world peace."

Operation Goodwill was sponsored by the Albany International Center.

Steel Talks Resume

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations resumed today in an effort to end a 14-week strike which has idled 16,000 workers in east coast shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Representatives of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers and Bethlehem met for 10 hours Sunday with no report of progress toward settlement.

Bethelehem workers in eight yards from Boston Baltimore are striking over pay, working conditions and other issues.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT NEAR GLENFORD—Two persons injured in a head-on collision on Route 28 about a mile west of Glenford Friday night were reported "doing very well" today at Kingston Hospital. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gorwin of New York City. The Corwins were proceeding in a westerly direction in a 1954 sedan (right) when the vehicle was in collision with another car operated by John Young, 40, of Lake Katrine. Young allegedly crossed into the westbound lane. Young received lacerations of the face. (Freeman photo)

MISHAP AT ST. REMY—Robert Skokan, 16, of St. Remy, driver of a 1951 sports car which struck a tree on the Cowhough road, town of Esopus, late Friday afternoon, was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital. He suffered a broken left leg and ribs and possible internal injuries. Two passengers, Dinah Eich, 17, of West Hurley, and John Dalluge, 15, of St. Remy, received minor injuries. (Freeman photo)

1949 Vehicles Must Be Inspected for Safety

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state reminded owners of 1949-model motor vehicles today that they are required to have their vehicles inspected for safety this month.

Commissioner William S. Hults of the Motor Vehicle Bureau said that, of the 37,848 vehicles of 1943 through 1947 vintage checked in March, 35 per cent failed to pass the initial inspection.

Just Poor Choices

ALBION, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Ruth O. Lindsley, 26, made a poor choice for an auto for deliberate ramming—it was a State Police car.

She also chose a poor place—smack in front of a peace justice's office.

She rammed the parked car, she said, to make trouble for her husband, with whom she was riding, and with whom she was having an argument.

Mrs. Lindsley pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving, and was fined $35 by Peace Justice Arthur Foreman. The mishap occurred Saturday.

Gateway Board Meet

The board of directors of Gateway Industries meets Thursday 7:30 p. m. at 519 Broadway.

Rocky Labels Draft Remote

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York continuing to thrust aside the possibility he will run for the presidency, touched both political and non-political issues in a quick trip here Sunday.

The Republican governor, talking to newsmen, shrugged off the chance he would run for president, either as a Republican or Democrat. Then, asked about accepting a GOP draft, he said: "The possibility is so remote, it is not worth speculating about."

He assailed racial segregation in a speech at the new University of Chicago Law Center, declaring that Americans who tolerate racial segregation laws are breaking faith with the founding fathers and deserved disrespect.

Then he rushed off to make a taped television interview in which he said the United States should offer technical information on birth control to nations which ask it and that the United States should not recognize Red China with the situation as it now exists.

The primary purpose of Rockefeller's visit was to address the law school convocation. Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold spoke there later and he urged caution lest the creation of too many independent agencies to handle disarmament and other world issues sap the strength of the United Nations.

D. C., Four States Have Primaries Set Tuesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weekend flurry of heavy politicking has ushered in a week crammed with primaries.

Voters in the District of Columbia, Ohio, Indiana, Alabama and Florida will ballot in primaries Tuesday. Texas will have a primary Saturday.

To set the stage, presidential candidates and their supporters roamed various parts of the country, meeting voters, attacking each other, and praising or condemning the Eisenhower administration.

For New Farm Program

In Chicago Sunday, Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had no intention of divorcing himself from the record of the administration. But he talked of a new farm program.

"We must break away from what we have," Nixon told a news conference. "Everyone agrees it's wrong."

Nixon was replying to a prediction made at a Democratic rally in Washington Saturday night. There, House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said Nixon would disavow the administration record when he became the Republican nominee.

"But he won't get away with it," Rayburn said.

Another prominent Republican, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, was in Chicago Sunday. Reporters fired questions at him.

Would he accept a draft at the Republican convention?

"The possibility is so remote, it is not worth speculating about."

Whom would he like to see as the next president?

Rocky Still Silent

Rockefeller, who has not endorsed Nixon, grinned and remained silent.

The West Virginia primary attracted attention again as the state Teamsters Union endorsed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota on the Democratic ballot.

Humphrey, opposed by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts in the May 10 primary, said "I am always pleased when I get the help of honest working people."

But Kennedy said "I'm sure that the people of West Virginia are not going to let Jimmy Hoffa determine who should be the Democratic nominee for president." Hoffa, a foe of Kennedy, is president of the national Teamsters Union, which says it has not endorsed any one in the primary.

Another Democratic candidate, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, completed a two-day tour of Arizona Sunday night.

Symington, who has not entered any primaries, told a Tucson forum that the administration was overlooking the interrelationship among tariffs, foreign aid and foreign investments.

Schools Holding Hearings Today On Phone Levy

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Numerous school districts in the state hold public hearings today or tonight on whether a 10 per cent telephone tax should be levied to raise additional funds for education.

Decisions Due

Approximately 800 districts are having meetings but not all are considering the phone tax. Few immediate decisions on the tax are expected.

The 1960 Legislature authorized the tax, effective July 1, provided the federal government drops its 10 per cent telephone levy. The tax raises 70 million dollars a year in the state.

However, President Eisenhower has asked Congress to renew the tax, which is scheduled to expire June 30.

In addition to the hearings, voters will act on 1960 school budgets and elect school board members. The views on the telephone tax will be advisory and not binding on school boards.

In some districts, the elections will be held Wednesday.

A few districts will decide on bond issues for school-construction.

In 400 other districts, the regular meetings will be held in June or July. However, districts wishing to act on the telephone tax this year must do so by June 30.

Gov. Rockefeller proposed that school districts take over the tax, if it expired nationally, to ease demands on real estate owners who now pay virtually all of the 800 million dollars raised locally for schools.

James E. Allen Jr., education commissioner, in a letter to be read at all school meetings, made no mention of the telephone tax.

He said "every citizen...has a responsibility...for the quality of his schools. What you do in passing upon these matters will profoundly affect not only the quality of your schools but, in the long run, our freedom as individuals and our future as a nation."

The boards will vote later on whether they want the telephone tax. These votes must be reported to the Education Department by June 30.

If boards representing more than half the public school pupils in a county approve the tax, that county must levy it.

The tax would be collected by the telephone company in all school districts of the county.

The telephone company would apportion the tax among all districts of the county on a per-pupil basis under the direction of the education commissioner.

Ike Counting On Public Support to Stop Aid Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower counted on public support today to forestall a proposed billion-dollar cut in foreign aid spending which he said would have "calamitous results."

"Let America speak, and this will not be done," he said in a nationally televised appeal Monday night.

He welcomed as a "bright development" the Senate's 60-25 passage a few hours earlier of an authorization bill which would cut only $49,400,000 from the $4,175,000 he proposed.

Big Fight Later

The big fight will come later, however. The authorization bill merely fixes ceilings for spending. The actual amount of money will be determined later in an appropriation bill.

"Groups strategically situated in Congress have proclaimed it as their fixed purpose to slash the appropriation for this mainstay of the free world by more than a billion dollars," Eisenhower said.

Any drastic money cut, Eisenhower said, would be a crushing defeat in the struggle "between communistic imperialism and freedom founded in faith and justice."

The foreign aid program, he said, "has yielded our nation greater benefits in security, better neighbors, and opportunities for expansion of profitable trade than has been achieved by any comparable expenditures for any other federal purpose." A major cut now would mean virtual abandonment of that effort, he added.

He spoke at a dinner sponsored jointly by the Committee for International Growth and the Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom.

Asks Nonpartisan Views

Urging nonparisan consideration, Eisenhower said the program is endorsed by both major parties and was started 14 years ago under his Democratic predecessor, President Harry S. Truman. At that time, he noted, it was first enacted into law by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

The authorization bill the Senate passed Monday night is about 87 million dollars higher than the House had passed earlier. Differences will be worked out by a conference committee.

The Senate acted after a day-long battle over efforts to clamp tight new restrictions on the use of foreign aid funds.

Despite State Department warnings that "harmful repercussions" would result, the Senate in effect voted 45-39 to reaffirm its opposition to any foreign aid assistance to the United Arab Republic as long as it continues its ban against Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal. The action is not binding on the President.

Cheryl Ends Flight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "You can't run away forever."

With these words, 16-year-old Cheryl Crane—actress Lana Turner's daughter—ended her latest flight from authority.

She and two other girls escaped Friday from the El Retiro Home, a county-operated girl's school in suburban Sylmar.

Monday, after subsisting three days "mostly on beans," Cheryl called her father and said they wanted to go back to the school.

Steve Crane, Beverly Hills restaurateur, picked them up near a supermarket a mile from the El Retiro Home.

In the county areas voting will be at Hurley, Port Ewen, Eddyville, Rifton, Tillson, Chambers, Lake Katrine and Sawkill schools. A list of election districts and the places for voting by residents of the election districts have been published in advertisements in The Freeman, the last one being on Monday, May 2.

Although there are four names appearing on the official ballot, Eugene DeDea, David Kline, William F. Paulus and Arthur Withall, provision is also made on the ballot for "writing in" additional names. Voters are to vote for two candidates.

After the polls close at 9 p. m., the vote will be tallied at the office of the Board of Education.

The May meeting of the Board of Education will be held Wednesday evening, May 4, instead of the usual Thursday date, for official tabulation and report to the Broad.

Crash Survivor Dies

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Jose Cachin, one of the two survivors from whom authorities hoped to learn the cause of a Venezuelan airliner crash, died Monday.

The other survivor, a Venezuelan housewife, is still in critical condition and not able to be questioned.

The airliner crashed Thursday near Calabozo, killing 11 of the 13 persons aboard.

Youth Hurt as Car Hits Utility Pole

An 18-year-old youth was injured at 7:20 a. m. today when the 1959 suburban he was driving went out of control and struck and demolished a utility pole on South Road, south of Route 199 at Lafayetteville, Town of Milan.

Trooper James Carroll said Robert B. Jordan, of New Rochelle, was operating a car owned by his father, Robert C. Jordan, at a low speed when he turned to the side of the road to permit an oncoming vehicle to pass.

Jordan's car slid in a ditch, struck the pole and overturned on its side. The youth was treated at the office of Dr. W. W. Wicks, Pine Plains, for lacerations and abrasions of the right leg and shock. He was later released. The car was wrecked, troopers said.

State Impressed

set up in the urban renewal formula or ratio.

In an assuring way, the commissioner told Radel "we have the money," thus indicating full assurance of cooperating with the mayor and other city officials in the project. The commissioner told the mayor he was impressed with the enthusiasm here toward the housing renewal projects and said he wanted to personally acquaint himself with the people and the conditions here and the needed housing improvements.

No Losses at Colonial

During the inspection of a number of apartments and other facilities at the Colonial Gardens development, Director Yosman reviewed the operations of the development and advised that there were no rents or charges outstanding and that not one cent has been lost due to uncollected rents or charges.

The commissioner told KHA Chairman Yerry that "the members and staff of the Kingston Housing Authority can be justly proud of the appearance and operation of Colonial Gardens and that it is one of the most outstanding jobs I have seen in the state."

Colonial Gardens, which has been in operation since August 1953, is the state-aided development located on Flatbush Avenue consisting of 98 apartments, 10 of which are occupied mostly by the aged.

It was pointed out that apartments in the development are available to residents of the City of Kingston who meet qualifications established by the Division of Housing in conjunction with the New York State Housing Law.

Can Apply Again

Yosman advised that many people who had filed in earlier years and were not accepted because of not meeting the state qualifications should reapply as the laws have been modified from time to time and in some cases these same persons now would be eligible for an apartment. Applications are available at the Development office on Flatbush Avenue.

Other members of the Kingston Housing Authority, in addition to Chairman Yerry, Director Yosman and Attorney Richter are Max Mones, vice chairman; George Chilson, John DeGasperis and Edward Conger.

4 Drivers Plead Guilty in Court

Five motorists appeared before City Judge Aaron E. Klein today to face traffic violation, and four of them pleaded guilty.

Louis M. Werbalowsky, 17, of 72 Elizabeth Street, pleaded innocent to a charge of reckless driving and received an adjournment until Tuesday, May 10. Detective Guernsey Burger lodged the charge. He said in the complaint that he was forced to drive to the curb on Linderman Avenue to avoid being struck by the youth's car, which continued and hit a utility pole.

Joseph Charles Mann, 32, of Richmond Hill, pleaded guilty to driving a motor vehicle without an inspection certificate. He was fined $5 but payment was suspended because Mann is presently unemployed and he was in jail overnight after the charge was made by Patrolman Floyd Krom.

Ruth Pratt, 37, of Bloomington, who was summoned by Patrolman Otto Short on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour on the Boulevard, was fined $10. Myron Asa Parslow, 17, of 82 Abruyn Street, who was summoned by Patrolman Leon Fitzgerald on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour on the Boulevard, also was fined $10.

Russell Washburn Jr., 31, of 89 Jervis Avenue, who was accused by Patrolman John Crespino of passing a red traffic light at East Chester Street and Flatbush Avenue, pleaded guilty and paid a $5 fine.

Fugitive Wanted

two rifles with a quantity of ammunition.

Perez had been indicted on Jan. 22, 1960 in Queens County for the armed robbery of Challan Lamp Shop of Flushing. A federal warrant for the arrest of Perez was issued Jan. 28, 1960 in the Eastern District of New York. Perez was traced by the FBI from New York City to the Virgin Islands and thereafter to the upstate farmhouse where he was arrested today. Perez whose residence was 102-28 Corona Avenue, Queens, since January of 1960 has been occupied doing carpentry work at the farmhouse where he was located.

Perez was to be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Thomas F. Saccoman, southern district of New York at Kingston.

Execution Fails

man's death "should give impetus to demands that the law be changed."

Died With Dignity

Chessman, 38, convict-author condemned for kidnaping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women in January 1948, died with dignity, as he had said he would. He insisted to the end he was innocent of the crimes that cost his life.

Just before taking the last 13 steps into the death chamber, Chessman told Warden Fred Dickson he was not the red light bandit who took two women from parked cars in lovers' lanes and forced them at gunpoint to perform acts of sex perversion.

Strapped in the straight-backed death chair, the dark-haired Chessman smiled reassuringly at a red-haired woman reporter he personally had invited to witness his execution.

Ignoring others of 60 witnesses pressed against the chamber's heavy glass windows, Chessman talked to Eleanor Garner Black, trying to have her understand a final message she could not hear through the sound-proof glass.

Farewell for Attorney

Mrs. Black, Los Angeles Examiner reporter, read his lips as saying "Tell Rosalie goodby." Whatever else he said could not be grasped.

The farewell was for Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney. In Chessman's last night in the waiting room outside the gas chamber he named Miss Asher as the executrix of his estate in a handwritten codicil to his will. He directed that future royalties from his books be used to campaign for abolition of capital punishment.

The ritual of death was over in 10 minutes for Chessman, after 12 years of court battling which won postponement of eight previous execution dates and attracted worldwide attention. His body was to be cremated today without ceremony and the ashes sent to Glendale, Calif. his one-time home.

Ike Prods

ward at an adequate level," he said.

Says Need Is Obvious

Turning to agriculture, Eisenhower said that in no domestic area is there a more obvious need for corrective legislation.

He recalled that he recently advised Congress that within broad guidelines he would approve any constructive farm bill Congress might enact.

He said he regrets "the continuing tendency to rely in agriculture upon federal controls, which inevitably create interference with lives of our farm people."

"I still believe America's farmers prefer, as certainly I do, the development of legislation which will promote progress for them toward economic equality and permit them the maximum freedom," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower also asked Congress to expand the sugar law, which expires this year. He said a four-year extension of the present sugar program, modified to give a president authority to adjust quotas in order to assure America an adequate supply, is needed to give farmers and processors the time to plan.

Other Recommendations

Turning to other recommendations for legislation, Eisenhower remarked that "some of the measures are of a kind that, at the expense of responsible government tends to be shunted aside in an election year."

He mentioned:

1. An urgent need for enough additional federal judges to hear the greatly increased number of cases being filed each year.

2. His request of last June for removal of the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government bonds.

3. Adequate new revenues for the highway trust fund "so that we may keep this very important highway program on schedule."

Eisenhower said his proposal for an increase in the federal gasoline tax to 4½ cents from 4 cents a gallon would meet the need.

4. His repeated request to liberalize immigration laws.

5. Money for modern office facilities for the White House, and renewal of presidential powers to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

6. Federal aid for school construction.

7. Legislation to help areas afflicted with long-term unemployment resulting from technological changes.

8. Health aid for the aged. Eisenhower said the program to be presented by Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming will recognize federal-state relations and private relationships. In effect that was a sketch of the reported administration plan to base the program on federal-state sharing of costs and on private enterprise insurance.

9. A "moderate" increase in the present $1-an-hour minimum wage, and expansion of coverage to include about three million additional wage earners.

Rocky Backs

governor said the governor would not have released the Hults report if he were not in sympathy with it.

...e Motor Vehicles Bureau reported that three of the four deputy commissioners involved were in their regional offices — Nicholas Radick at Buffalo, Leland E. Morton in Binghamton and Thomas Brown in the Albany regional office and that Donald Young was moving to the Syracuse office.

N. Y. Man Not Affected

Deputy Commissioner P. Vincent Sullivan has been in charge of the New York City office and was not affected by the reorganization.

Voters approved last November a constitutional amendment to make the Motor Vehicles Bureau a separate department. Legislation to carry out the amendment was approved this year.

Church Body Is For Integration To Aid Missions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Presbyterians have come out for racial integration as a means of helping their mission work.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States adopted a committee report Monday which urged "the opening of the doors of our institutions to qualified students without regard for racial distinctions."

The report was submitted to the Jacksonville, Fla., meeting by the Presbytery of the Potomac.

"Our mission work is severly handicapped in Africa and elsewhere by our inability to educate potential native leaders in white Presbyterian U.S. colleges whereas scholarships are provided for them behind the Iron Curtain," the report said.

The Methodist General Conference at Denver, Colo., said it favored desegregation in its institutions but declined to cut off funds to achieve that goal.

A proposal to apply economic pressure to stop segregation at Duke University and other Methodist facilities was defeated. Duke and Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., do not admit Negroes. Ten other Methodist seminaries do.

The actions by the church groups occurred on a day marked by a major fire in a Kentucky Negro college gymnasium and the first organized antisegregation protest at Augusta, Ga.

Fire caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the gymnasium at Kentucky State College in Frankfort. Investigators said all signs pointed to arson.

A series of fires broke out shortly after two teachers were discharged and 12 students expelled in connection with a boycott of the campus snack bar and cafeteria by students seeking more privileges and better food.

Negroes boarded three city buses and took seats up front in a mass demonstration at Augusta. Eleven were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

CASTRO'S TRUE COLOR

Soon it will be a year and a half since Fidel Castro took power in Cuba. In that time he has become a pitiable figure, one of the great disappointments of the age of emerging peoples.

While he fought dictator Batista in the hills, his infectious romantic idealism captivated many liberal idealists in America and other places.

It seemed fitting he should be called Dr. Fidel Castor, for he was thought of almost as a philosopher of revolution.

Whatever there was of the true man in that image, it is gone now. The aura of romanticism is stripped away. Castro stands before the world as a weak, floundering, ineffectual man, totally incapable of governing.

Yearning still for the smell of revolution, unhappy at his desk, he has made the television studio his citadel. There, in three and four-hour sittings before the camera, he shouts against America in effort to hide his total incapacity for sober, rational leadership.

If any of his one-time distant admirers are still tuned in, they must be stunned at the content of these attacks. For they are cheap, transparent imitations of the Communist and Nazi propaganda techniques.

Castro is supposed to have been something of a genuine student of government and revolution. He seems to have remembered all the wrong things.

When he should have fastened in mind the true character of American freedom and the sympathy of Americans for freedom everywhere, he remembered instead the old totalitarian lessons: when you're having trouble at home, make constant charges that foreign plotters seek to undermine you.

As a matter of fact, Castro must look to Red China as his model today. The Soviet Union long since has moved on to subtler and more mature devices of propaganda.

We cannot hope there will be any end to this, that Castro by some miracle will become again the liberal idealist he seemed, that he will "settle down" and govern.

Since he cannot master the arts of governing, he has no choice but to practice the arts of deceit to cloak his inadequacy from the Cuban people.

The world — and some Cubans — see through him now. In time most Cubans will see how empty a man he is.

Then Castro will go down.

In an era when crusades for independence are being mounted in many places, he will be sadly remembered as one who wore the outer garments of the free, indpendent leader—but lacked his heart and substance.

An average of 1,000 TV photos every six hours from Tiros I almost equalled the output of an amateur photographer with a new camera.

TIES FOR FATHER

It is a kind of perennial running joke in this country that what Father gets at Christmas is neckties. There is much truth in it. Many a wife plies the lord and master of the house with cravats. Few husbands have had the temerity to question this practice, though some may entertain a hunch that the necktie is a kind of last resort for the gift giver who has run out of ideas.

Now a British psychologist, acting as consultant to the Tie Manufacturers Association in London, has cast some more or less expert light on the subject. He claims that giving ties—not to mention such related activities as straightening them, or tightening the knot—is a sign of affection. "To a woman," says he, "a tie is a symbol of love." Christmas is coming, ladies.

The first American astronaut to land on the moon will be equipped with a road map of the place, says a Navy official. Maybe he'll be able to read it, but will he be able to fold it.

THE KOREAN HORROR

The story of Korea is sad. For 3,000 years its history is authentic. It is a mountainous country, surrounded by Russia and China and across the sea, by Japan. The Chinese Three Eastern Provinces (Manchuria) lie directly to the west. There are many theories as to the origin of the Korean people. Undoubtedly they are Mongoloid rather than Malayan, but beyond that too much is guessing. The Korean language seems to be closer to Japanese than to Chinese.

As far back as history goes, Korea was invaded by Chinese or was fighting for its freedom from China. It might be said that whenever China was strong, Korea was its vassal.

The earliest relations of Japan and Korea lie in a mist of superstition and tradition but the record is clear that in the year 200 A.D., a Japanese force successfully invaded Korea. This opened the road to a two way traffic between the two countries and it also made China known to Japan and vice versa. Whereas China was an enormous country and Japan was guarded by the sea, Korea was beset by enemies. Such tribes as the Khitans and Mongols from Manchuria and Siberia invaded China but they also moved into Korea. Genghis Khan and his grandson, Kublai Khan, moved in upon Korea, which became a vassal of the Mongols. It was after the downfall of the Mongols that the Koreans called their country Chosen, an ancient name still in use. China reemerged into the glories of the Ming Dynasty, a period of great progress in all cultural fields and this had a tremendous influence upon Korea.

Perhaps the most serious influence upon Korean history—the most lasting influence—was the invasion of Korea by Hideyoshi, Regent of Japan. Rising from the lowliest station, he sought to make himself the conqueror of as much of Asia as he knew about and his first objective was Korea as a stepping stone for the conquest of China. In May, 1592, Hideyoshi, who had mastered Japan, set out on his Napoleonic expedition to conquer first Korea and then China. He was a man of enormous ability, but he failed to realize that no country in the world, not even Switzerland or Japan, is as suited for guerilla warfare as Korea. It was in this expedition that one of Syngman Rhee's ancestors, Ri Chosen, invented a cannon whose shell really could go through rock and iron.

Although Korea won this war, the country was practically destroyed. The fighting had been on Korean soil and the people suffered frightfully. Korea's Chinese allies became a scourge. For 230 years subsequent to the defeat of Hideyoshi, Korea was isolated from both Japan and China, although each year tribute was sent to China.

Even during the period of isolation, European ships appeared in Korean waters and some French missionaries and Dutch merchants even landed, but they were not welcomed and some were persecuted. It was during the period in the 19th Century that China and Russia vied for suzerainty over Korea; the Russians, however, made little progress. After the Meiji Revolution of 1888 in Japan, that country again turned its eyes toward Korea and for a time Korea was squeezed among China, Japan and Russia until the Sino-Japanese War in 1894-5, fough in Manchuria, so weakened China as to leave only Japan and Russia in the field. Korea became completely independent of China but that did not mean that either Russia or Japan would not seize Korea if possible.

The Russo-Japanese War in 1904-5 settled the issue. Russia was defeated and Japan established a protectorate over Korea. In 1910, the protectorate was abolished and Korea was incorporated within the Japanese Empire.

Japan controlled Korea until 1945 when that country fell to the United States and Soviet Russia. Thus North Korea, a Soviet country, and South Korea, a democracy within the United Nations, came into existence.

In June, 1950, war broke out between North and South Korea with Chinese Communist intervention to complicate the situation. The United Nations sent an expeditionary force under General Douglas MacArthur to assist President Syngman Rhee but this force failed because it was not permitted by Washington to win a victory. As a matter of fact, when General Douglas MacArthur, after a long and courageous career as an American soldier, protested against the ugliness of fighting for defeat, he was miserably dismissed. Since then, Syngman Rhee, as President of Korea, has prevented the Chinese Communists and the Russians from conquering his country.

Heed That Anginal Pain; It Signals Heart Strain

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The average motorist has no great affection for traffic signals and the normal person resents all types of pain. Yet a red light at a busy intersection, a warning bell at a railroad crossing, or an attack of pain may be the means of preventing serious accident and even fatality.

Perhaps the most feared and the most useful signal is the squeezing chest sensation called angina pectoris.

Although the literal translation of angena pectoris is "pain in the chest," your doctor recognizes an attack as the heart muscle's cry for more oxygen.

In a way, it's like an engine knock when your car is laboring up a long hill. And like the engine knock, it may disappear when the pull is lessened as you get over the crest or shift into lower gear.

Continuing the comparison with engine knock the anginal attack may result from serious motor trouble like complete blockage of the coronary fuel line.

Much more often it's caused by a temporary strain put on a perfectly good coronary engine by a hot rod motorist who'd rather push the foot pedal than shift gears.

Unfortunately for patient and doctor, solution of the anginal problem requires consideration of many more factors than are involved in the problem of engine knock. For present purposes, only the following need concern those of you who have a personal interest in the complaint:

1. Despite the label of angina pectoris, the oxygen hunger of heart muscle may not be a "pain" and may not be located in the "chest."

Quite frequently, the "cry" is a sensation of heaviness or squeezing (like being caught in a vise).

Sometimes, the pain or abnormal sensation seems to come in the left jaw, shoulder, arm, wrist, ring finger or pinky or between the shoulder blades.

However, if the seizure is brought on by effort and relieved by rest, the knowledgeable patient seeks immediate medical consultation.

2. Chest pain (angina pectoris) may be due to factors other than the oxygen hunger of heart muscle.

Familiar examples include: Injuries or diseases of ribs, muscles between ribs, muscles of chest, joints between ribs and breastbone (sternum), spinal nerves that run forward under cover of ribs, pleural covering of lungs, or lungs themselves.

The knowledgeable patient does not presume to make a self-diagnosis of angina pectoris each time he has chest pain. Even the seasoned physician has difficulty differentiating "true" from "false" angina.

3. Since each attack of chest pain carries with it the fear of a "heart attack," the anxiety created by a "false" angina may actually produce a "true" anginal seizure.

An emotionally charged or exaggerated account of a "false" attack may lead the cautious physician to make an incorrect diagnosis of "true" angina.

Which Nobody Can Deny

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the real puzzlers in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination is what Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse thinks he's doing in it.

He's been accused of entering the race to stop Kennedy, and as a protest against the Kennedy-Landrum-Griffin labor bill, which Morse voted against.

He denies that with, "I was a candidate in Oregon before Kennedy and Humphrey."

MORSE HAS BEEN accused of being a stalking horse for Stevenson.

He denies it. He quit the Republican party in 1952 to campaign for Stevenson. He says now:

"If I were not a candidate and a delegate to the convention, I'd still be for Stevenson."

Morse has also been suspected of staying in the race so that he'll have enough delegates for the balance-of-power shift if there is a deadlock.

Morse apparently thinks Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson will go to Los Angeles with the biggest delegations.

It will be a toss-up who has most. He says he thinks the convention may be deadlocked ten ballots or so.

In this deadlock he thinks he has a chance. He also gives Stevenson and Symington a chance. He counts Humphrey out because:

"Humphrey was defeated in Wisconsin two to one, but still doesn't know it."

Finally, Morse has been accused of wanting the vice presidency.

On that one, "I'm the guy who says 'Yes,'" Morse replies. "I think it's a position of great influence."

BUT PERHAPS THE BEST REASON that the Oregon senator is in this race is that he's just Wayne Morse—utterly fearless, individualistic, unpredictable and always controversial.

Humphrey has been waging his campaign as the poor man's candidate. But Morse says Humphrey doesn't know anything about being poor or an underdog.

"I haven't got anything like the $100,000 that Humphrey spent in Wisconsin or the much-more-than-that Kennedy spent," says Morse.

He would have liked to enter the Wisconsin primary—he was born there—but didn't have the money.

Morse estimates that his campaign for the nine convention delegates' votes in the District of Columbia primary May 3 will cost him $10,000 or $12,000.

His campaign in Oregon is being financed by laboring people who "chip in a buck for Morse" and at coffee hours where his campaign buttons are sold for $1.

He opposes Humphrey and a Stevenson write-in threat in the D. C. primary. He opposes Kennedy in the Maryland primary May 17.

Morse operates a stock farm in Maryland which makes him a kind of native stepson. But he isn't given much chance of winning its 24 convention delegates.

In Oregon on May 20, however, where Humphrey, Kennedy, Johnson and Symington are all on the balot, Morse is given an even chance of winning the 17 delegates.

"After Kennedy and Humphrey leave the state," says Morse, "we'll sweep up and close party ranks again."

Morse thinks he may have 100 delegates by the time the convention opens. But he isn't very specific about where they're coming from.

HE SAYS HE HAS A COMMITTEE working for him in every state that has a Democratic convention.

He hopes to pick up one, two, three or four delegates starting in New York and working west, and in Georgia, Texas, North Carolina and Oklahoma.

If Morse gets 100 convention votes many will be amazed. Few take his campaign that seriously.

"The press has done quite a job to downgrade me, but I'm used to that," says Morse. "Liberals get it all the time.

"I'll campaign for whomever they nominate," he says. "I can let bygones be bygones."

U. S. Called Beneficiary Of Nation's Top Executives

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — If twenty-four persons got together and decided to give away approximately $7,000,000 a year—the money to be used for everything related to the "general welfare"—it would certainly be worthy of mention. Maybe they would even be hailed in their respective communities as public benefactors.

Well, it so happens that there are many groups of twenty-four public benefactors of this kind whose contributions each year remain anonymous. They, therefore, get no accolades from their countrymen. Were it not for the fact that the Securities and Exchange Commission is required by law to make public the incomes received by the executives in American business, there would be no way to estimate how much is annually given away by these men to the Treasury of the United States to be expended for any purpose that the government may choose.

Donner Heads List

At the top of the list is Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp., who last year gave nearly $500,000 to the Federal government. This was almost three times what he himself retained.

It is interesting to note how many of the business executives are making unprecedentedly large contributions to the public treasury. Taking at random the names of some of the heads of a few large companies listed in the Securities and Exchange Commission records, on file and available to the public, one finds in addition to Mr. Donner a substantial number on the "honor roll." Assuming normal deductions of 10 per cent of total pay, the estimated contributions to the Treasury of the United States are as follows:

John F. Gordon, pres., General Motors Corp.	$440,030
Louis C. Goad, exec. vice-pres., General Motors Corp.	370,415
Henry Ford II, pres., Ford Motor Co.	345,763
Ernest R. Breech, chairman, Ford Motor Co.	345,763
Sherrod E. Skinner, exec. vice-pres., General Motors Corp.	340,740
James E. Goodman, vice-pres., General Motors Corp.	327,090
Cyrus R. Osborn, exec., vice-pres., General Motors Corp.	312,092
George Russell, exec. vice-pres., General Motors Corp.	306,773
Arthur B. Homer, pres., Bethlehem Steel Corp.	282,866
John Dykstra, vice-pres., Ford Motor Co.	277,910
William T. Gossett, vice-pres., Ford Motor Co.	269,135
Hugh Robertson, chairman, Zenith Radio Corp.	268,093
J. W. Schwab, pres., United Merchants and Manufacturers	263,928
C. M. White, chairman, Republic Steel Corp.	256,772
Samuel Bronman, pres., Distillers Corp. - Seagrams Ltd.	242,802
C. H. Greenewalt, pres., E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.	237,136
John S. Bugas, vice-pres., Ford Motor Co.	227,960
Irving A. Duffy, vice-pres., Ford Motor Co.	227,960
E. H. Little, pres. and chmn., Colgate-Palmolive Co.	219,902
Roy T. Hurley, pres. and chairman, Curtiss-Wright Corp.	219,502
Morse G. Dial, chairman, Union Carbide Corp.	217,499
W. Whiteford, pres., Gulf Oil Corp.	215,901
Thomas E. Millsop, pres., National Steel Corp.	211,972

Some to Charity

Now, of course, some individuals give away large sums to private charity, and this would lessen the amounts given to the United States Treasury but, generally speaking, the above table—which is based on total compensation, including bonuses—tells the story of what several successful American business men are doing under a free-enterprise system, to support the finances of their government and private charity.

Not so many years ago it was considered a good salary if an executive in a big industry received $75,000 a year. Actually, very few executives today retain the equal of that amount in purchasing power. For the dollar today is worth only 47 cents as compared with the dollar of 1939. Union members in many industries, on the other hand, get around three times what they used to earn in 1939, so they are not affected as much by the drop in purchasing power of the dollar.

Incentives in Stocks

The story would not be complete, however, without referring to the opportunity the executives have in many businesses to buy the stock of the very companies whose value they are helping to enhance by their daily work. Were it not for such incentives, the enthusiasm of the managers of American business would long ago have faltered.

For today there are relatively few rich men with inherited wealth. The chance to accumulate large fortunes is rare indeed, and the average man in a high position in industry could not, in the few years he is at the top-level position, possibly save enough out of his salary to accumulate $1,000,000 for himself. But, oddly enough, that same individual—as, for instance, Frederic Donner of General Motors—will alone in ten years accumulate for the Treasury of the United States the sum of approximately $5,000,000.

Maybe it's time that some kind of award be given to each of the ten or twenty or hundred men in America who in ten or fifteen years earn a total of $5,000,000 for Uncle Sam's unrestricted use and for charity. Every taxpayer can figure for himself the total he has contributed to the Federal and State government in the last ten or fifteen years.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

In a previous column there was mention of a former Kingston woman who experienced the earthquake and fire at San Francisco in April, 1906. She had written a letter to her mother, Mrs. W. P. More of Kingston telling about experiences with her three children, the youngest being six weeks old, and her husband, a lawyer who lost his several thousand dollar law library in the catastrophe.

Mrs. Sargent's letter to her mother was printed in the Kingston Weekly Leader of Saturday, May 19, 1906, which reads in part: "The earthquake was a horrible experience. We were awakened by the house being twisted and shaken. I jumped from the bed and grabbed the baby from her bassinet while George ran in the adjoining room to the boys. By that time, in their room, the chimney from the next house had crushed through their window and the bricks were falling thick and fast all over their floor. Fortunately the beds were far enough from the window to protect them."

Letter continues further: "I held the baby and clung to the foot board of the bed to keep from falling. Bricks were coming out of the fireplace into the room. A portrait six feet square hanging over our mantle swayed and fell to the floor and soon the room was so full of dust and plaster I could hardly see the open window although it was daylight. I must have lasted two minutes. When it ceased shaking I looked out of the window and the street was full of people, some in their night clothes and without shoes. We had slight tremors all day and even now we have them but less frequently."

Mrs. Sargent further writes on the great disaster of 1906: "Not a chimney in this city is sound. Gas and electricity were turned off at once, but in spite of it, fires started in different parts of the town and consumed the vital part of it. We were 15 blocks from the burnt district, so stuck to the house. All day Wednesday we spent in the street with the neighbors. Most of the population spent that night in the parks and vacant lots. I was desolute enough as the day wore on, but when night came it was a wierd sight to see the flames, licking up what the elements had felt. The heavens were one blaze of light."

"The next day and night were the same, excepting that the fire was creeping out our way. I packed blankets and what we could carry expecting to move in the night to the Presidio, six blocks away to camp, but the soldiers and firemen and policemen made one last desperate attempt at Van Ness Avenue, and checked the flames. That is our widest street, 180 feet. They blew up every house along one side of it with dynamite before the blaze reached it. The concussions shattered many buildings. Everybody was ordered in the morning, to open windows on account of the blasts. Some of the most beautiful houses in the city were blown to atoms to check the flames."

"Friday night all lights were ordered out in the houses for fear of fire as everybody was burning candles. We had two slight trembles that afternoon that opened both our front doors. As the house stands on a steep side hill of sand, we did not feel secure. So at 10 o'clock that night, we took all our wire springs and mattresses and bedding in the back garden, made beds on the grass. George patrolled the yard with a Winchester on his shoulder until 5 a. m. then I sat up and watched while he slept. The city is full of thieves!"

No animal can get along without water.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a brisk rally as it rebounded above its 1960 lows. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to more than a point prevailed among most key stocks.

The action was a well-advertised "test" of the lows reached March 8, to see whether they would hold as a support level or whether prices would break sharply below them.

Steels and motors were active in the recovery drive which followed four straight sessions of decline.

The market was mixed at the start, refusing to give ground. Brokers said this apparently served as a signal to traders as well as some investment buyers to pick up stock.

Buying was vigorous. As trading slackened, prices settled a bit below their tops of the day.

Many blue chips, which have been battered in recent weeks, advanced vigorously.

DR. JOSEPH WORTIS

Dr. Joseph Wortis, director of the Division of Pediatric Psychiatry, Jewish Hospital, Brooklyn, will discuss "Preventive, Diagnostic and Counselling Services" at the Institute on Mental Retardation at the Governor Clinton Hotel May 4-5.

Dr. Wortis has pioneered in the field of mental retardation in development of community clinics, won the annual award from the Association for the Help of Retarded Children in 1955, is a member of the Children's Bureau Committee on Mental Retardation and has recently conducted a survey on study of retardation in the USSR under the National Institute of Mental Health Grant.

The institute, which opens Wednesday morning, is sponsored by the New York State Interdepartmental Health Resources Board.

Dr. Wortis is one of a number of experts in the field of mental retardation who will speak during the two-day institute.

Others are Chris Deprospo, professor of education at City College of New York; Dr. George F. Elting, director of Wassaic State School; Bert W. Schnickel, deputy commissioner of health, Office of Mental Retardation, Connecticut Department of Health, and Dr. William J. Hageny, professor of education at State University College of Education, New Paltz, who will moderate a panel composed of representatives of area agencies.

Some 100 persons are being invited to participate, including administrative and supervisory personnel from both official and voluntary health, education and welfare agencies in this area.

Indiana, Ohio

lot are Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Wayne Morse of Oregon.

In Indiana, more than 700,000 persons are expected to vote. Kennedy and Nixon have only minor opposition on the presidential preference ballots.

Victories would bind Indiana's 34 Democratic convention votes to Kennedy and its 32 Republican convention votes to Nixon on the first ballots.

In Ohio, intramural fighting within both parties has perked up interest.

Despite these battles, Kennedy is sure to pick up 64 Democratic convention votes and Nixon at least 55 of the 56 Republican convention votes.

The other Republican vote could go to former Sen. George H. Bender. He is running as a delegate candidate pledged to himself.

On the Democratic side, one full slate supports Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a favorite-son presidential candidate. DiSalle, however, is pledged to turn over these votes to Kennedy.

A dissident Democratic group opposes the DiSalle candidates in almost half the contests. The dissidents, however, also are pledged to Kennedy.

In Alabama, the selection of Democratic presidential electors overshadows all other political races.

There are 35 candidates for the 11 spots. One slate of 11 is pledged to bolt the Democratic party rather than support a presidential nominee hostile to Southern racial traditions.

Another slate of 11 is pledged to support the party and its nominee. The other 13 candidates are running as independents.

Political Tolerance Urged for Sermons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen prominent Protestant church leaders have urged their fellow clergymen to preach religious tolerance in politics.

An open letter to all Protestant ministers, released Monday named no candidates. But the context made clear that it referred to the candidacy of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), a Roman Catholic.

It said one candidate has been both attacked and supported "merely because he is a Roman Catholic," and added:

"Each of the candidates has presented himself before the American people with honesty and independence, and we would think it unjust to discount anyone of them because of his chosen faith."

Hilleboe Urges Vigorous Drive On Air Pollution

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Cancer-producing agents exist in the air many New York citizens breathe, the state health commissioner declared today in urging a vigorous program to curb air pollution.

Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe, in a speech at an anti-pollution conference, said "concentrates of city smog have produced cancers in experimental animals."

The health commissioner said there was a growing evidence that air pollution was taking "a significant toll in death and illness from such associated diseases as cancer, heart disease, respiratory diseases and allergies."

The commissioner said investigators were finding "a pronounced association between community air pollution and high mortality rates due to cancer of the respiratory tract and cancer of the stomach and esophagus."

The main sources of air-pollution, Hilleboe said, are from homes, municipal and industrial buildings, motor vehicles and other transportation and "natural" pollution.

The commissioner said, "every index of measurement leads to the reliable conclusion that the problem will get worse in New York State unless more vigorous enforcement begins soon."

Another view on enforcement of air pollution laws came from Ronald B. Peterson, deputy commerce commissioner. He told the conference Monday night that "reason and judgment should be used in enforcing anti-pollution laws."

Youth Struck by Car

A 16-year-old youth was injured Monday afternoon when struck by an automobile at Washington and Hurley Avenues, according to a report of Patrolmen Robert Bonesteel and Otto Short. Police said Albert Ferry, of Torrent Road, Winsted, Conn., was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for a laceration of the left leg. The youth was released after X-ray examination. The 1958 car involved in the accident was owned and operated by Carmelita M. Bickford, 34, P.O. Box 226, Phoenicia, according to police.

Nixon Comes Out For Moderate CR Plank for Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has passed the word to Republicans he wants a moderate civil rights plank written into the party's platform.

It would be based largely on the civil rights program President Eisenhower submitted to Congress. Parts of this were included and parts omitted from the bill now awaiting Eisenhower's signature.

No Paramount Issue

Although Nixon is prepared to take advantage of a.. expected Democratic split, he has told friends he doesn't expect civil rights to be a paramount issue in the fall campaign.

This will be particularly true, he is quoted as saying, if the Democrats nominate Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass)—as Nixon now thinks they are likely to do.

Although Kennedy voted for most of the more stringent amendments that were offered to the civil rights bill Congress passed this year, he sided in 1957 with Southern opponents on a couple of important tests.

He voted against Nixon's position then that the Senate could take up a House-passed bill without sending it to the Judiciary Committee, where it might have been buried. He supported the Southern-sponsored amendment to require jury trials for persons charged with contempt of court under provisions of the act.

In 1957 both Nixon and Kennedy backed a proposal under which the attorney general could have initiated civil rights injunction suits in other than voting rights cases.

Retreats From Position

Nixon has retreated from that position, largely because of advice from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who omitted it from this year's administration proposals. When Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) tried to write the injunction provision into this year's bill, Kennedy was away campaigning and was not recorded as voting.

Nixon obviously hopes as the Republican presidential nominee to collect the electoral votes of some Southern states. He thinks he might be able to do this if he holds a moderate position on civil rights.

The vice president does not agree that the Republicans need to take an extreme position on enforcement of civil rights in order to attract what could be the deciding votes of Negroes in the Northern big cities.

Nixon expects to make it clear in the campaign that if he is elected he would use the office of president to preach the moral right of equality.

Pension Mix-Up Views Aired

Q) "In answering a question in your column pertaining to Old Age and Survivors Insurance, you made the following statement: 'No one can get Federal Old Age Pension payments who is earning salary or wages amounting to more than $1,200 a year.' There is an exception to that rule, which permits a person reaching 72 years of age to receive old age benefits, no matter how much they earn." H.L.

"I was told that after reaching 72 years of age, I could earn all I could get." J.D.

"You were wrong in one respect, Mr. Spear. A person will receive a Federal Pension payment for any month in which his earnings do not exceed $100, regardless of how much he earns for the full year." A.S.

A) I plead guilty to the sin of oversimplification, which is a serious offense when you're dealing with Federal Law. It is perfectly true that any person after reaching the age of 72 can earn an unlimited sum without being penalized on Federal Old Age Pension payments. However, if he earned over $1,200 during the year in which he reached 72, there are complications and he'd better check his local Agency. The rule as regards $1,200 a year in earnings is a double-barreled one. If a person's total earnings in a year do not exceed $1,200, there is no penalty at all as regards Federal Old Age Pension payments. If he earns over $1,200 during a year, but makes no more than $100 in any month of that year, he is entitled to Pension payments for each month in which his earnings did not exceed $100. I sincerely hope that that's straightened out and I can get off the hook and back to the relatively simple matter of investments.

Business Urged To Be Active in Inflation Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce was told today that the threat of inflation is "as potent and dangerous as ever."

William A. McDonnell of St. Louis, board chairman of the chamber, urged that businessmen take a more active part in government to do something about it.

Despite "the temporary relaxation of inflationary pressures the threat is still there," McDonnell said in an address prepared for the chamber's 48th annual meeting.

"Even a cold war cannot be won without sacrifices," he said. "We cannot win with shorter hours of work, with long and costly strikes, wage-price spirals, feather-bedding, unbalanced budgets, and fiscal practices which discourage savings and stifle initiative and self-reliance."

He urged more direct action by businessmen.

Reports Car Stolen

Police today investigated a complaint that someone stole a 1954 convertible from in front of 301 Washington Avenue. Merritt M. Evory, 24, of that address, reported the theft of his car to Lt. Lemuel Howard at 6 a. m.

5 Persons Hurt As Car Tumbles

Five persons were injured at 1:40 a. m. today when the 1959 foreign make car in which they were riding failed to negotiate a curve on Slate Quarry Road, Town of Rhinebeck, and rolled down a 15-foot embankment. The car was completely wrecked, according to state police.

Troopers George Dufresne and Frank Pesche identified the operator of the car as Donald Hefferson, 41, of Scotch Plains, N. J., who suffered head injuries and shock. Passengers in the vehicle, who were taken to Northern Dutchess Health Center, were, James Compton, 42, New York City, who suffered lacerations of the nose and abrasions of the right leg; John Ryan, 47, also of New York City, who suffered lacerations of the head and left ear; Joseph Ahl, 29, New York City, who was treated for lacerations of the right leg and abrasions of the right ear, and Douglas Martin, of Jamaica Plains, Mass., who received abrasions of the right ankle and suffered shock.

Troopers said the car was traveling in an easterly direction when it failed to negotiate a curve east of Route 9G and overturned down the embankment.

Chessman Urged Vision, Courage To End Penalty

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — In statements released after his execution Monday, Caryl Chessman urged a continued battle against capital punishment.

Chessman died in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber for kidnap-robbery-sexual assault crimes he was convicted of but which he denied committing.

His statements were made to San Francisco Examiner reporter Will Stevens and managing editor George Flowers of the Long Beach Independent. The statements were copyrighted by the newspapers.

To Stevens, the 38-year-old convict-author said: "I did want to live. I believed passionately that I could make a meaningful contribution to both literature and my society with my writings...

"I must believe and I do believe that before too many more years have passed we will realize the senseless tragedy and the witless futility of that relic of human barbarism, capital punishment, and that we have the courage and the vision to eliminate it..."

Wilson Bill

"help solve the problem of obtaining adequate sewage facilities for our newer communities" and expressed at that time that an "amendment appropriate for consideration at the next session of the legislature" would be forthcoming.

In his memorandum accompanying the signing of the new 1960 bill, Governor Rockefeller said the bill offered by Assemblyman Wilson had been "carefully drafted to meet the objections raised last year" and with the assistance of the Office for Local Government," it has been reviewed by state agencies and private organizations directly or indirectly affected."

"The bill authorizes for the first time the entrance of private corporations into the field previously occupied exclusively by public agencies," Governor Rockefeller states in his memorandum, "because the bill represents a new concept, experience may very well suggest amendments in order to fully carry out its objectives," he wrote in his memorandum.

"The problem of providing adequate and sanitary service facilities for our newer communities has been a vexing one, this bill provides a new approach to solution of the problem, an approach consonant with our free enterprise system and at the same time one which recognizes the important public interest involved," he concludes.

Gerald Woodvine Fireman of Year In Ulster Town

Gerald Woodvine of Lawrenceville Street, Town of Ulster, was named Fireman of the Year at the 16th annual banquet of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 Saturday evening at Aiello's Restaurant.

Woodvine, one of the original members of the company, is the first to receive the award which will become an annual presentation in the future.

The recipient of the award, a handsome desk set engraved with his name in gold lettering, is now serving his 15th year of membership in the company. He is employed by Boice Bros. Dairy.

Devoted to Company

Cited in the presentation was Woodvine's devotion to the company, his attendance at firemanic courses, and as a representative at meetings of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and his services as a fire policeman.

Former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department reminisced about the founding of Ulster Hose Company 16 years ago when the original members constructed a building large enough to house one truck, a second-hand pumper.

He pointed out that today the company has expanded tremendously and has modern equipment and facilities.

Praised for Progress

He praised the company for its progress through the years and its effort in the protection of life and property. Murphy also commented on the blue lights carried on cars of volunteer firemen, pointing out that they are nothing more than identification and provide no additional privileges.

Deputy Chief Harold Sanford of the KFD spoke briefly, saying that each day an average of 31 persons lose their lives by fire, that fire protection is a year-round job with volunteer firemen on call at all times. He praised volunteer groups, saying that they devote time and effort learning how to fight fire and save life and receive no compensation for their work.

Training Certificates Given

Sanford awarded certificates to members of the company who have completed a fire training course he conducted.

Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo of the Town of Ulster, a member of the company, praised the work of the volunteers, pointing out that their untiring efforts supply fire protection at its best. He complimented Chief Harry Lowe, now serving his fifth term as chief, and called attention to the importance of public support of the work of the company.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Greer Garson and Christopher Plummer brought to joyous life Monday night George Bernard Shaw's 60-year-old comedy, "Captain Brassbound's Conversion."

It filled out one of the best—if crowded—evenings of television viewing this season. Preceding the 90-minute NBC Hall of Fame production, there was another hour and one half drama on CBS. This was the Playhouse 90 production of "The Shape of River," telling of the final, tragic decade in the life of Mark Twain.

Franchot Tone, with a putty nose and assortment of wigs, was a convincing Samuel Clemens who as age came on lost his two beloved daughters and adored wife. Although it was a poignant and in some ways slow-moving play, it was sparked with flashes of Twain's irrepressible humor and oblique viewpoint.

Shaw's mischievous satire was, by contrast, fragile, witty and brilliant. It concerned the adventures of a beautiful lady of indomitable will and infinite tact as she led a group of bumbling males unwittingly to their salvation. Greer Garson made a perfect Shaw heroine, and she was assisted by fine cast. Christopher Plummer played the title role—the smuggler who came into her life a raging lion and left it meek as a lamb.

All in all, it was an excellent and exhausting evening of television.

Gilbert and Sullivan purists continue to commiserate with each other over what they call the desecration of "The Mikado" last week—and Groucho Marx is on the receiving end of their most furious comment. What the Savoyards complain about most is the fact that Groucho was Groucho—for all of his costume—and that he slowed down and fouled up the usually zippy pace of their beloved comic operetta in the NBC version.

To this viewer, who can take G & S or leave it, the songs were familiar; the humor, pleasant, and the whole thing mildly diverting.

Recommended tonigh: "Fun Fair," NBC, 8:30-9:30 — a salute to the institution of the country fair, with Celeste Holm, Hermione Gingold and Margaret Hamilton; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 — with guests Peter Lawford and Carol Lawrence.

NEW YORK (AP)—If all foreign holdings of dollar assets were turned into gold at once, our gold reserves would be cut well below the danger point. The American dollar would change from one of the world's soundest currencies into a shaky one.

But the money managers say the chances are slim and the ways to prevent it are available—and some are now being used.

A Look at Figures

In other words, the dollar may not be the all powerful cock of the walk it was a few years back. But neither is it sickly. It just needs watching more carefully than in the early and lush post-war years.

But, first, let's look at the figures.

U.S. gold reserves are now a bit over 19¼ billion dollars.

Against this is that possible foreign drain which now totals more than 16 billion dollars.

It is made up of nearly nine billion dollars of short-term dollar assets held by foreign treasuries and their central banks which, under our law, can readily be turned in for gold. These reserves are six billion dollars more than they held 10 years ago.

There are also seven billion dollars in short-term assets held by private foreign banks and individuals which at least theoretically could be turned into their central banks for conversion into gold here. This amount is four billion dollars more than 10 years ago.

A short time back such dollar assets were being turned into gold at a disturbing rate—nearly four billion dollars worth of gold left Ft. Knox that way. Then the flow slowed to a trickle.

Reasons Explained

The reasons for the big outflow of gold in 1958 and 1959, and the small loss this year are explained today by the First National City Bank of New York in its May bank letter.

"In the 1958 business recession, at a time of a greatly enlarged U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, we saw how cheap money and a huge budgetary deficit could drain gold out of the country. The U.S. gold stock in that year fell by 2¼ billion dollars, the largest loss in any calendar year since World War II," the letter says.

"As credit was restricted and the federal budget brought closer to balance, the drain on the gold reserve began to ebb. The increase in money rates in our market and a tightened federal spending policy put brakes on the gold outflow."

Their dollar assets became attractive to foreigners because they earned higher returns here and because faith in the dollar was being restored.

"So long as the United States pursues sound monetary and fiscal policies, the dollar can keep its status as the world's leading reserve currency. Dollars invested at short term, or deposited in U.S. banks, will be regarded as equivalent to gold," the letter says.

British Guiana is about the same size as Great Britain.

One of these days some enterprising college will come along with a course in trump management. Until that happy day, bridge players will have to struggle along with the rule that declarer should pull trumps as soon as he can do so safely.

Today's hand is a cinch for an expert. He wins the opening heart lead and notes that he must lose a heart and two trump tricks, assuming trumps break three-two. He also notes that he wants to trump two diamonds in dummy, and that if he starts proceedings by drawing two rounds of trumps some unkind opponent may play a third round and leave him only one trump with which to ruff those two diamonds.

If he tries to ruff out two diamonds before drawing trumps one opponent is sure to be able to overuff. If he happens to be the man who only holds two trumps, South will lose that trick and two other trumps and be set.

There is a happy middle ground. The expert simply leads a low trump at trick two. Then, when he gets the lead next, he plays the ace of trumps. This accomplishes the purpose of playing two rounds of trumps and does not give the defense a chance to lead the deadly third trump.

Alleghany Corp. Still Has Say on Running Central

BALTIMORE (AP) — The management of the Alleghany Corp. has weathered another batch of criticism and still runs the huge holding company that controls the New York Central Railroad.

A. M. Sonnabend, Boston and New York hotel man who threatened a proxy fight last fall for control of the Alleghany Corp., told the annual stockholders meeting Monday he has no immediate plan to carry out the threat.

But Sonnabend said he still was "very deeply interested and I own a very substantial amount of stock." Alleghany also controls real estate and investment trusts and has a total worth of an estimated 7½ billion dollars.

Sonnabend's presence and his brief remarks were among the highlights of the 2 hour and 45 minute session. All members of the present board, headed by Allan P. Kirby, were re-elected without opposition.

Kirby's absence from the meeting was criticized by Lewis D. Gilbert, who is a minor shareholder in numerous corporations.

Charles T. Ireland Jr., Alleghany executive vice president, introduced Gilbert as "the corporate conscience of America" and said Kirby was "abroad checking into the possible European aspects of an investment opportunity."

Ireland later told newsmen that the investment itself did not involve a European firm but merely "some phases of the opportunity."

Among those re-elected to the board were Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central.

Joan Marie Wenzel Is Bride of G. Brennan; Couple to Make Their Home in Connecticut

Miss Joan Marie Wenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Wenzel of 84 Andrews Street, and Gerard John Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brennan of 88 Broadway, exchanged vows before nuptial Mass Saturday, April 23, at 12 noon at St. Mary's Church.

The Rev. Francis X. Toner officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Theodore Riccobono. Martin Kelly, soloist, sang Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus, Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling and On This Day O Beautiful Mother.

Easter lilies and candles decorated the church and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk taffeta fashioned with a basque bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a petal neckline. The voluminous skirt featured appliques of taffeta on tulle and swept back to an aisle-wide chapel train. A princess crown of seed pearls secured the fingertip French illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white glamellias, stephanotis and ivy.

Honor attendant for her sister was Miss Carol Wenzel. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Bilyou and Mrs. Myrna Donaldson, both of Port Ewen.

Attendants were attired in princess style gowns of royal blue silk organza, fashioned with fitted bodices, scooped necklines and mid-length sleeves. Their full skirts were ballerina length and they wore matching half hats with circular tulle veils. They carried pink roses and ivy arranged with pink cabbage roses.

Anthony Duffy of Simsbury, Conn., was best man with Peter Brennan and Donald Barnes of Kingston as ushers. Ringbearer was Joseph Wenzel, brother of the bride.

A reception for approximately 90 guests held at Gene Whalen's Ulster Landing Lodge.

For a wedding trip to the Poconos, Mrs. Brennan chose white outfit with pink and black accessories and a pink rose corsage. The couple will make their home in Hartford, Conn. where Mr. Brennan is associated with Billings and Spencer.

Both are graduates of Kingston High School. The bride was employed by Western Union Telegraph Company.

GUESTS EXPECTED TO HELP THEMSELVES

Dear Mrs. Post.: Whenever I have guests in for an evening, I usually serve salted nuts, potato chips or some other snack with a drink. I put these snacks on the cocktail table for guests to help themselves. My husband thinks I should pass them around to the guests as many people would hesitate to get up and help themselves. I do not think that this is at all necessary and that guests will readily help themselves if they want anything.

Answer: Guests are expected to help themselves, but if you see they are shy about doing so, you would pass the "snacks" around at least once and then ask them to please help themselves.

Protecting Her Employer

Dear Mrs. Post: I am secretary to one of the executives in this firm, and I have a desk just outside my employer's office. When someone comes in and asks to see him, I always ask, "What do you want to see him about?" I have been told that this is very impertinent on my part and that it isn't any of my business what he wants to see my employer about. Will you please tell me if I am wrong in asking this question?

Answer: To ask this question of someone who comes into the office regularly would be very impertinent. But to a stranger coming into the office and asking to see Mr. Jones, it is entirely correct to ask the question. A busy person can't be interrupted by everyone who comes into the office.

Place Cards at a Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: When giving a dinner party at home at which place cards are to be used, is a card put at the host and hostess's place too, or are they just at the guests' places?

Answer: Only at the guests' places.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leadlet E-9, entitled "Wedding Forms—Widow and Widower," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. Poughkeepsie High Rallies to Beat KHS, 8-4 in DUSO Tilt

HE'S THERE—Third baseman Dick Sewell of Poughkeepsie High makes it to third base ahead of throw to third sacker Ronnie Secreto of Kingston in yesterday's game at the Stadium. The Pioneers won, 8-4, for their first DUSO League triumph of the season. (Freeman Photo).

Gordon, Albrecht Swat Home Runs In Sixth Inning

Home runs by Jimmy Gordon and Steve Albrecht in the sixth inning carried the Poughkeepsie Pioneers to an 8 - 4 DUSO League triumph against Kingston yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

In the other circuit contest, Newburgh Free Academy stayed unbeaten by whipping Port Jervis, 13-2.

The Standings

Poughkeepsie went into the sixth inning on the short end of a 4-3 decision and Kingston ace Paul Gardiner, making his initial start of the season, had been impressive.

The visitors had tallied twice in the second frame as Bill Piazza drew a walk and Vic Guidace and John Eck had reached base safely on errors.

Sickler Doubles

The Maroon nine scored three in their half of the second. John Hetsco and Eric Broberg were safe on miscues, Richie Sickler belted a long double and Mike Ferraro singled.

Another run was added in the third on a triple by Terry Corkery and Ronnie Secreto's single. A run by Poughkeepsie made it a 4-3 in favor of the locals starting the sixth.

Gordon started the frame by knotting the score as he banged a homer to deep center field. After Al Butts singled, Richie Sewell banged into a double play around the horn and it appeared as if Gardner would survive the frame.

Albrecht Bangs One

However, Carl Cerniglia drew a pass and Albrecht pickled a pitch to deep right field and circled the bases for a homer. At this point Coach Al Gruner replaced Gardner with Bob Dunn. He walked Piazza and plunked Butch Veronesi with a pitch and then allowed singles by Eck, Dave Boucher and Gordon before finally closing down the inning.

Boucher went the distance for the winners. He didn't issue a pass and struck out eight while being touched for six safties. Gardner was the loser but fared well until the sixth.

The locals are idle the rest of this week and will play at Port Jervis next Monday.

Pitching — Mike McCormick, Giants, gained his second shutout, and third victory without defeat, with a four-hit, 5-0 decision over the Braves.

Hitting — Daryl Spencer, Cardinals, set up one run and scored another in a tying, two-run eighth inning, then sent winning run to third with his fourth hit and second double in ninth for 4-3 decision that ended Pirates' winning streak at nine games.

New Paltz Netmen Remain Unbeaten

COLLEGE TRY—Don Zimmer almost turns in the play of the day against his former teammates, the Los Angeles Dodgers, at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The Cubs' third baseman moves far to his left for a slow grounder hit by Tommy Davis. Zimmer, who was never charged with not trying, gets to the ball all right, picks it up cleanly and gets off the throw to the plate. The trouble is that the throw is wide, permitting Wally Moon, who continues to hit well, to score from second base. Zimmer gets E for effort and an error.

Gordon Krajna, unbeaten last season, remained that way yesterday as New Paltz netmen stopped Albany State, 7-2. Coach Charles Wolbers' tennis players are undefeated this year and have matches Friday at Drew University at Potsdam.

Krajna won the No. 1 singles match as he stopped Carl Penrid of Albany, 6-1, and 9-7. In the No. 2 match, Dave Baum of Albany beat Ron Mutchnik of New Paltz, 8-6, and 6-4.

Other singles results saw Jim Dillman of New Paltz win over Bob Karper of Albany, 6-0, 6-1; Jack Gatje of New Paltz score, 6-4, 6-0, over Don Cohen; Pete Phillips of New Paltz whip Lou Wolner of Albany, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; Bob Hustin of Albany stop Peter Chan of New Paltz, 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles play, Krajna and Katje, an unbeatable combination, defeated Baum and Austin of Albany, 5-7, 8-6, 6-2; in a well-played match. In the other doubles, Dillman and Mutchnik scored over Albany's Pinard and Karper, 6-1, and 6-2; and John Swinburne and Phillips of New Paltz won over Corbin and Wolner, 4-6, 7-5, and 6-4.

Hahn Addresses PGA Dinner at Albany Hotel

He traded an ordinary existence on professional golf's rugged tour for a $100,000 income in the trick shot field and, of course, he's mighty happy with it all.

That's what Paul Hahn, considered the greatest trick shot artist of all time, told more than 40 golfers and links fans Monday night at the annual Northeastern New York PGA Golf Show and dinner at the Sheraton-Ten Eyck in Albany.

A large delegation of golfers from the three area clubs heard Hahn pay tribute to the Northeastern PGA district pros and emphasized that all pros teach alike, although some styles may vary.

"Golf is a game of position and action," he stressed. Grip and stance are allied with position, and the hands provide the action. Now 41 years of age, Hahn has been a pro for 23 years, a trick shot artist for the past 10 years.

Champions Present

Hahn has appeared on many national television shows and made several films, one of which was shown to the gallery. His headquarters are located at Crystal River, Fla.

County Judge Martin Schenck was toastmaster and welcomed the guests, including those at the table of champions: Billy Snyder of Troy, New York State Boys' champion; John McCleary of Johnston, State Junior king; Linda Leader of Mohawk, who won both district women's and district junior girls' championships; Dave Kohn of Shaker Ridge, District Senior champion; Joe Smith of Normanside, ENYGA winner; Mrs. Gerald Hallenbeck of Catskill, Senior Women's titleholder; Tom Hurley of Albany, Middle Atlantic Blind Golfers Association champion; Jim Stephens of Schenectady, Chapter 2 Blind Golfers' king; Alex Sinclair of Mohawk, District PGA titlist, and Bob Bates of Delmar, district junior boys' champ.

Indians Now Tied for First; Giants One Game Off NL Pace

Trades by Lane Help to Tribe In 3-2 Decision

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoops! Somebody better cut Frank Lane down from that telephone pole. Cleveland's Indians ain't dead after all.

Lane's trades, which had fans so wild they hanged the Cleveland general manager in effigy, now have the Indians in a first-place tie with the Chicago White Sox. The Tribe made it with a 3-2 victory at Washington, their fifth in a row, Monday night while the White Sox were losing 11-6 at Baltimore in the only American League games.

It was Johnny Temple, the second baseman Lane got from Cincinnati, whose two-out single scored the clincher against the Senators. And it was Herb Score and Don Ferrarese, two southpaws Lane swapped to the White Sox, who were tagged with seven runs as the third-place Orioles, (just .012 points behind) cut Chicago's streak at five games.

The Indians, who jumped from eighth to second in a Sunday doubleheader against Kansas City, scrambled to the top in a three-run seventh inning at Washington after being shut out on five hits by loser Pete Ramos (0-2) for six. Singles by Russ Nixon (the catcher Lane couldn't get rid of) and pinch-hitter Bob Hale, plus a walk, loaded the bases in the seventh. Vic Power brought in two with a two-out single. Then Temple put it away.

Right-hander Gary Bell (2-1) had the Senators blanked on one hit until the seventh, when singles by Bob Allison and Jim Lemon and Julio Bequer's pinch double got their two.

The Orioles made it seven out of eight although out-hit 11-6. One of those half-dozen hits off six Sox pitchers was a three-run homer by Jim Gentile. It came in the sixth off Dick Donovan and upped Gentile's AL-leading RBI count to 17.

Baltimore scored three in the first off Score on four walks and a two-run single by Gus Triandos —then hustled from behind for an 8-5 lead by pairing four of their hits with three walks in a five-run fourth against Ferrarese (0-1). A two-run double by rookie Marv Breeding was the big hit.

McCormick Hurls Win Over Braves; Pittsburgh Loses

By ED WILKS

The San Francisco Giants are within one game of the National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates again because Mike McCormick has come of age—and a winter trade has come back to haunt the Bucs.

Ronnie Kline, the right-hander Pittsburgh swapped to St. Louis, junked the Pirate winning streak at nine games Monday night, pitching a seven-hitter as the Cardinals made off with a 4-3 victory on a bases-loaded walk in the ninth. With McCormick throwing a four-hitter for his second shutout, the Giants closed in with a 5-0 decision over Milwaukee's Braves.

Cincinnati tripped Los Angeles to fifth, a half game behind St. Louis, by beating the Dodgers 6-5 on five unearned runs and Ed Bailey's three-run double. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 8 - 7 with a three-run ninth capped by Don Zimmer's two-out single.

Face Bows Again

Elroy Face, the right-hander who built a relief record of 22 consecutive victories by winning his first 17 last season, was tagged with an 0-2 mark by the Cardinals. He walked pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski following Stan Musial's single Daryl Spencer's fourth hit, a double, and an intentional walk to Leon Wagner that loaded the bases. Face took over from starter Harvey Haddix in a two-run seventh—giving up a pinch-single by George Crowe that tied it.

Kline, traded for outfielder Gino Cimoli, was touched for two runs in the second and a solo homer by Smoky Burgess that gave the Bucs a 3-0 lead in the fourth. He breezed the rest of the way for his first complete game and first decision in three starts as a Card.

McCormick, 21, the $50,000 bonus kid of four years ago who now is a solid No. 2 starter behind Sam Jones, held the Braves to one hit for five innings, then got the edge as Jim Davenport broke up a shutout duel with Carl Willey (2-1) with a sixth-inning homer

The Giants, beating back the Braves' bid for second place, made it a romp in the eighth with four runs off relievers Don McMahon and rookie Ken MacKenzie.

The Reds, whose only earned run was Billy Martin's first National League homer, a solo shot for a 3-3 tie in the seventh, got their winning three in the eighth after Vada Pinson's leadoff single and the game's second error by Dodger second baseman Charlie Neal. Loser Roger Craig (1-1) injured his pitching shoulder in a run-down collision with Pinson, and left after lobbing three balls to Lee Walls. Reliever Larry Sherry finished the intentional walk, struck out Roy McMillan and then gave up Bailey's sliced double off the left field screen.

Bo Gill rightfully raises the issue that Bill Short never had a residence in Kingston, so, he asks, why all the hulabaloo about the Yankee pheenom as a Kingston-Newburgh product.

As Bo points out, Short was born in the Kingston Hospital while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Short, were residents of Port Ewen. The family lived in Port Ewen until Central Hudson transferred the dad to Newburgh.

Of course, one might facetiously observe that Port Ewen is part of metropolitan Kingston area. Meanwhile, Mel Allen persists in keeping the Kingston legend alive.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Wonder if any heavyweight can beat Sonny Liston in a shooting match. Assuming, of course, they take the handcuffs off Sonny. . . Whatever else it accomplished, if anything, the folderol surrounding the signing of Floyd Patterson and Ingemar for the return bout did send a lot of folks to the dictionary to find the definition of ancillary rights. . . John Holochuck, executive director of the Kingston Boys Club, is attending the 54th annual convention of the Boys Club of America in New York city. Holochuck joins some 1,000 lay and professional youth leaders representing more than 550 Boys Clubs and approximately 600,000 boy members in a wide variety of forums, workshops, clinics and training sessions. Warren F. Smith and Karl L. Pitcock, officers of the Kingston Boys' Club Board of Directors will atend the sessions on Thursday. . . The first Babe Ruth League in Italy highlighted 127 new circuits filed through April 1. The four-team league in Naples makes Italy the eighth nation eligible to compete in the European World Series.

• Something New in Baseball:

Within the next five years, most of the teams in baseball will discard the present white standard baseball for bright orange ones. This is the prediction of the National Baseball Congress, with headquarters in Wichita, Kan. This organization a year ago originated the Official Glo-Bal baseball, for added visibility. Last year this baseball was tested successfully in many of the NBC tournaments across the nation. Six baseball manufacturers are now licensed to make this new product which is now available at athletic goods stores. This type baseball was tried several years ago but rejected as a fad. This also might be a good time to ask the question again: What is being done about reorganizing the City Baseball League in Kingston for 1960?

• Baseball Briefs:

Rocky Colovito, the slugging outfielder now belting them for the Tigers, has set no home run goals for himself this season. "My ambition is to hit .300 or better," Rocky says. "I have no home run target. I know if I can get in the .300 class. I'll get more than my share of homers. . . Yogi Berra is a big booster for Eddie Sadowski, rookie receiver for the Boston Red Sox. Says Yogi: Sadowski is the best working new catcher I've seen come into the league in a long time. . . Casey Stengel confirms Berra's boosting by adding. "Sadowski thows well and catches real good. They keep telling me he may not hit too well, but every time I see him he hits against our club, no matter what they say.

• Praise From the Master:

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees pays a fine tribute to Bill Short in these words which are singularly free of Casey's inimitable fractured syntax and double talk:

"Short never gets excited. He uses common sense on the mound. When you tell him something, he understands. He holds men on bases good, too, never lets them bother his pitching." Looks like the kid will hang around awhile
